Congress approves drought, dairy relief

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Both houses of Congress overwhelmingly approved some $6 billion in aid for drought-stricken farmers Thursday after scaling back provisions for special assistance to milk producers and ethanol fuel makers.

"Hold on — help is coming in a sensible, rational compassionate way," Agriculture Committee Chairman E. "Kika" de la Garza, D-Texas, said as the House gave 368-29 approval to its version of the bill.

Within hours, the Senate approved 94-0 a similar bill but only after peppering it with scores of complex changes that may not be untangled before a House-Senate conference committee next week, at which lawmakers plan to fashion the final version.

Congressional leaders aim to send the final product to President Reagan's desk by Aug. 11.

The House had come under fire over a provision that would have increased on Oct. 1 the price support level for milk to $11.10 for each 100 pounds. It would raise consumer costs by a few cents a gallon at most and cost the government $145 million by congressional estimate. The Agriculture Department put the price tag at $300 million.

Related story — B1

Both the House and Senate versions would cancel a 50-cent price-support cut set for Jan. 1 and the plan to actually increase the level was denounced by Agriculture Secretary Richard E. Lyng as well as an array of business and farm groups that often are allies of the dairy industry on such matters.

"This is a most dangerous and wrongheaded precedent," said Rep. Pat Roberts, R-Kan. He scoffed at claims that dairymen need the price increase to offset the increased cost of feed resulting from the drought, saying cattle and sheep ranchers and poultry producers are not getting anything similar in the way of a subsidy.

The House moved to deflect criticism, adopting a compromise version sponsored by Reps. Steve Gunderson, R-Wis., and Tim Penny, D-Minn. It would go ahead with the increase but only for April through June next year. Supporters said it would knock $30 million off the price tag.

In the Senate, Sen. Tom Daschle, D-S.D., scaled back his plan to allow U.S. ethanol fuel makers to buy up to 2 million bushels each every month of government surplus corn. Ethanol is a fuel based partly on alcohol produced from corn and other commodities.

Under Daschle's plan, ethanol makers would be able to purchase the corn at 110 percent of the government's acquisition price. Much of the corn in Agriculture Department bins now was acquired long before the drought sent crop prices skyrocketing.

The South Dakotan said he designed the provision to help small ethanol makers, but it could represent a substantial benefit for the the Archer Daniels Midland Co., the large Decatur, Ill., corn processing company that makes the lion's share of U.S. ethanol.

In any case, Daschle won voice vote approval of an alteration that would terminate the program next Sept. 1 and limit the total use of corn in the program to 16 million bushels a month.

Basic provisions of the bill would provide payments to drought-stricken farmers equal to 65 percent of their lost earnings above 35 percent of anticipated harvest. They also would expand and streamline government feed programs for dairy and livestock producers.

Consumer spending rises at fastest pace in 10 months

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Consumer spending increased in June at the fastest pace in 10 months, the government said Thursday, fueling concern over inflation and whether the economy will have room for production of exports.

The Commerce Department said personal consumption spending, which includes virtually everything except interest on debt, shot up a seasonally adjusted 1.0 percent in June, the steepest climb since a 1.3 percent gain in August, two months before the October stock market crash.

The report was a disappointment to many economists who are looking for growth in consumer demand to slow in order to narrow the nation's trade deficit.

Excessive consumer demand implies that imports will grow and that factories will have difficulty increasing production of exports if they also have to step up manufacture of goods for domestic buyers. This strain on factory capacity could add to inflation if buyers bid up the price of scarce goods.

In another economic report adding to inflation concerns, the Labor Department said import prices, one of the main inflationary threats facing the U.S. economy because of the weaker dollar, rose 2.7 percent in the April-June quarter, the biggest increase in more than a year.

The climb followed a 1.2 percent increase in the January-March period and was the steepest since the 4.1 percent jump in the first three months of 1987, which was attributed almost entirely to rising crude oil prices.

Most analysts were expecting consumer demand to slow after the October stock market crash, but that has not happened.

"There's some real danger here that we will end up with too much of a good thing," warned David Jones, an economist with Aubrey G. Lanston & Co., a government securities dealer in New York.

"This consumer spending is so strong it probably will trigger, at some point, Federal Reserve actions to push interest rates higher," he said, adding that the move most likely will come after Aug. 16 when Federal Reserve policymakers next meet to consider monetary policy.

Federal Reserve Board Chairman Alan Greenspan, appearing before a House Banking subcommittee on Thursday, repeated a warning delivered to the Senate two weeks ago that the Fed was likely to err on the side of

Fire fighters now 'cautiously optimistic' at Willis Gulch fire

By The Associated Press

Air tankers were back in the sky over central Idaho Thursday, raining retardant on the raging head of the 3,800-acre Willis Gulch fire that has already destroyed $2.7 million in timber and flushed 10 families from a remote housing complex.

But the heart of the blaze, 35 miles northeast of Boise, moved passed the cabins, and fire bosses believed the threat was effectively over.

"We feel very good about the situation with the cabins right now," said Boise National Forest spokeswoman Karen Palmer. "There is a possibility that residents will be able to return. ... We are cautiously optimistic, but it depends on the fire activity."

The man-caused blaze burned right around the 29 cabins on Wednesday after more than 100 firefighters dug in a protective line and stood their ground as the flames passed. Other crews saved the Jackson Peak lookout and a telephone microwave installation to the east the same way.

Still, the fire, burning in heavy timber, continued to advance, jumping Ten Mile Creek and burning intently in that area. Three crews of 20 firefighters each joined the battle on Thursday and hundreds more firefighters were enroute to reinforce the lines.

Helicopters carrying water buckets doused hotspots ahead of the flames as ground crews, fighting hot smokey conditions, dug fire line on the north and south flanks behind the head, working toward pinching the fire off.

Ms. Palmer said there was no estimated time for containment.

Meanwhile, stringent fire restrictions went into effect on all government land throughout southern Idaho at midnight Thursday as fire managers hoped to avoid more man-caused blazes on the drought-dried forests and range.

The man-caused Poison Creek fire was finally controlled late Wednesday at 2,200 acres southeast of Twin Falls in the Sawtooth National Forest, and a man-caused 1,000-acre range fire near Cambridge was declared out just hours.

South Dakota, Yellowstone fires proving tough

The Associated Press

RAPID CITY, S.D. — An arson forest fire that has burned into the western edges of this city expanded and switched direction Thursday and more subdivisions were ordered evacuated, officials said.

"It's out of control. It has expanded drastically since I was there last evening," Gov. George Mickelson said.

In Wyoming, efforts to block a fire burning toward Old Faithful geyser in Yellowstone National Park were hampered by what normally would be good firefighting weather — cool, damp conditions slowed a backfire intended to head off one of seven major fires.

Fires also burned in Alaska, Montana, Idaho and California.

Three subdivisions in western Rapid City were ordered evacuated Thursday as a precaution as wind whipped a fire in the heavily forested Black Hills. Fire officials did not know how many homes were involved but said the number was in the hundreds.

"It's almost being defended totally by air at the present time because it is in those canyons and the ground crews simply cannot fight the fire," Mickelson said in an interview from his office in Pierre.

The wind switched from the southeast to the north during the morning and gained speed, he said. That combined with a forecast high of 100 degrees "does not bode well for fighting the fire," the governor said.

Earlier Thursday, the fire had been declared 80 percent contained after burning an estimated 2,200 acres, and about half of the 1,000 people who were told to leave their homes Wednesday were allowed to return.

Seven homes, 14 outbuildings, four vehicles and a bridge had been destroyed.

Mickelson was at the scene Wednesday and saw a barn and a house catch fire no more than 200 yards away. The buildings were engulfed in seconds.

Don Kopp, the fire incident commander, said Wednesday that the fire was the work of an arsonist. And he said authorities have been investigating a series of about 50 fires dating back to May that are believed to have been started by the same person.

USFS, BLM tighten fire restrictions

By STACY DESMOND
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — If you plan to spend the weekend in the mountains, Smokey will be watching.

The Forest Service is tightening fire restrictions in southern Idaho national forests because of extremely dry conditions.

"Because of the increased hazard, it was prudent to put the restrictions into effect," says Barbara Todd, fire information officer for the Sawtooth National Forest. "They are to help protect the public and our resources."

In the third straight year of drought, the forest is already as dry this year as it usually is in September, she says.

The restrictions began today at 12:01 a.m. in Boise, Payette, Sawtooth, Challis, Salmon, Targhee and Caribou national forests.

Under the new regulations:

- Only fires within stoves are permitted outside of developed campgrounds. Campfires are restricted to recreation sites.
- Smoking is allowed only in enclosed vehicles or buildings and developed recreation sites.
- Operating a chain saw for any purpose is restricted between the hours of 1 p.m. and 1 a.m.
- Operating motorized equipment off roads and trails is banned between 1 p.m. and 1 a.m.
- Blasting, welding or other activities which generate flame or flammable material are limited to the hours of 1 p.m. and 1 a.m.

Exceptions to all except the smoking restriction may be granted in

Iran might be preparing a Gulf-war surprise for Iraq

By NABIL MEGALLI
Los Angeles Times

Analysis

MANAMA, Bahrain — Iran, which seems to have turned overnight from a battlefield giant into a military underdog, could be preparing another Gulf-war surprise for the world equalling its about-face acceptance of United Nations cease-fire calls.

"The sudden reversal of the battlefield situation and the almost outright surrender implied in the cease-fire acceptance just do not make sense," said a knowledgeable diplomat based in the Persian Gulf region. "Not unless Iran is setting the stage for something else."

Other sources who have found it difficult to believe the 180-degree shift note that the Iranians were reported earlier this year to be receiving sizeable weapons deliveries from China and international arms traders in preparation for a new offensive.

But the Iranians retreated after a symbolic fight from strategic territories they had paid heavily to occupy in past years and withdrew voluntarily from other areas — prompting speculation of an unannounced peace deal with Iraq.

This speculation has been quashed by continuing Iraqi offensives after Iran's formal cease-fire acceptance, and by Baghdad's deliberate attempt to topple the Tehran regime with the help of rebel Iranian guerrillas.

The pieces could fall into place if one remembers that the incomprehensible Iranian actions began after Machiavellian politician Hashemi Rafsanjani took over two months ago as acting military commander in chief.

"Rafsanjani is dubbed in Teheran as the 'fox' and the 'shark,' and his steady rise on the tumultuous Iranian political scene is ample witness to his uncanny craftiness," noted a Western diplomat.

"In this war a delicate balance is imposed by the superpowers to enforce their 'no victor-no vanquished' objective, and only a swift and unexpected move by one of the parties can upset this strategy," he added.

Rafsanjani is already reaping benefits by depicting Iran as a peace-seeking country and forcing Iraq into the unpopular position of having to reject a cease-fire.

"The Iranians have made no secret of the fact that this was one of their main objectives in accepting the cease-fire," the Western diplomat said.

The prevailing tendency is to dismiss such statements in Tehran as face-saving devices. But Iran is gaining more sympathy and, conceivably, receiving fresh arms supplies from parties that do not want to see it defeated.

Internally, the clerical regime appears to have reversed a wave of popular discontent with religious leaders and ebbing enthusiasm among volunteers needed to pursue the "sacred war" against Iraq.

Universities have been shut down, and government departments operate on skeleton staff as volunteers, some of them literally herded, flock to the front lines.

Even parliament has suspended its business to allow deputies to join President Ali Khemenei at the front.

"The number of volunteers is unprecedented since the start of the war," says Iran's Prime Minister Mir Hussein Mosavi.

The benefits also include new camaraderie between the revolutionary guards and the regular armed forces, and rejuvenated popular support for aging spiritual leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and his wavering nine-year-old Islamic Revolution.

"Iran's basic problem was morale and volunteers, not arms, and Khomeini now has enough potential martyrs for a final assault on Basra, even though it may cost him several hundred thousand dead," an Arab diplomat said.

Capture of the strategic river port would cut off southern Iraq and enable Khomeini to attain his dream of a second Islamic Republic near Kuwait before he dies.

"The Iranians almost did it last year, by independent accounts, and this time they would have a suitable international political climate after Iraq's refusal to accept a cease-fire," the Arab diplomat said.

Part of Iraq's recent battlefield success was due to the fact that it had allowed Iran's forces to become entirely geared to an offensive strategy.

"Iraq could be making the same mistake by going on the offensive and shifting its weight to the central sector," said a military source.

Relief

Lawmakers have been struggling to keep their plan within tight budgetary limits and there has been concern about the possibility of excess spending within the bill.

Rep. Bob Walker, R-Pa., took to the House floor to denounce a $5.5 million project to control temperatures in the Sacremento River near Shasta Dam and thus aid salmon spawning as "this pork garbage."

De la Garza defended the measure sponsored by Rep. George Miller, D-Calif., as one that would help to provide an adequate food supply to American consumers. He said the measure was not merely to help farmers but to make certain that there was enough to eat on the grocery shelf.

The House also approved a de la Garza amendment that would bring the cost estimate for the bill to $5.8 billion, down from $6.9 billion at the start of the day. Most of the decrease was accounted for by new limits on a program under which the government could pay half the cost of seeding burned out pastures.

The measure sponsored by Rep. Claude Harris, D-Ala., was harnessed to the bill when the Agriculture Committee was racing to wrap up work and later estimated to have a $1.2 billion cost.

De la Garza's amendment reduced the overall cost of the bill by shrinking the seeding provision.

Even then, House Speaker Jim Wright, D-Texas, acknowledged Thursday morning that there was no way to be perfectly sure of exactly how much the drought bill would cost. Farm lawmakers have been saying that fiscal watchdogs worried about the spending level have nothing to complain about because it would be less than federal savings realized because of the drought.

But Wright said there was no certainty.

"The art of economics is not a precise one," Wright said.

tightening the money supply, rather than loosening.

Greenspan said the 4.7-percent inflation figure released Wednesday as part of the report on the second quarter gross national product was "somewhat larger than we would have expected."

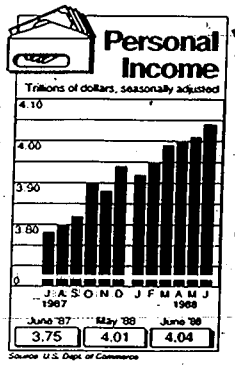

However, he said recent economic indicators have shown no evidence that would cause the Federal Reserve to radically change its policy.

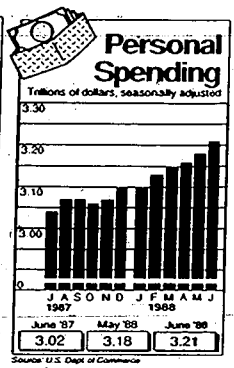

"There have been a lot of data ... but none has altered either my or, as far as I can judge, the board's general view as to where we are going and where we have been ... In a certain sense, it has been a period in which there have been fewer surprises than normal," he said.

The report on consumer spending also showed that Americans' personal income jumped a healthy 0.7 percent to $4.04 trillion in June, the best showing in three months. It followed a 0.5 percent rise in May, a modest 0.2 percent increase in April and a 1.0 percent jump in March.

The gain in income in part reflected healthy increases in employment in June. The unemployment rate dropped to 5.3 percent last month, a 14-year low.

With spending rising a bit faster than income, Americans' personal savings rate fell slightly to 4.3 percent, compared with 4.4 percent in May.

special situations by local officials.

Todd says she has received calls from people who thought the forests were being closed to most recreation use.

However, the limitations only exist during the afternoon and late night hours. Those hours were decided upon by the Forest Service because it's hotter then and the wind is usually stronger.

"That doesn't mean that fires can't start at other times, people still need to be cautious," Todd says.

"With firefighting resources already spread thin, and with little prospect of relief, the fire restrictions will become increasingly important," says Roland Stoleson, forest supervisor of the Sawtooth National Forest.

Similiar restrictions are being ordered by the Bureau of Land Management and Idaho Department of Lands. Those restrictions are not expected to be announced until today, but land expected to be regulated is north of Highway 20 to the southern borders of Forest Service land.

Fires

Fires inside Yellowstone had charred 95,135 acres by Thursday morning, about 4 percent of the park's 2.2 million acres.

Although cooler temperatures, higher humidity and scattered showers aided fire control efforts, the conditions created problems for firefighters attempting to start a 6-mile backfire along the eastern edge of the 8,500-acre North Fork fire that was within six miles of Old Faithful.

But the same conditions helped firefighters outside the park and officials in the Bridger-Teton National Forest prepared to release some of the 690 firefighters battling the 24,400-acre Mink Creek fire in the forest's Teton Wilderness, said Ed Waldapfel, fire information officer.

The seven major fires in the park have not discouraged tourists from visiting the famous Old Faithful geyser, as hundreds have been gathering to watch its regular eruptions.

Officials continued to stress Thursday that the Old Faithful complex around the geyser was in no danger from the fire. The complex consists of three lodges providing 521 rooms, including the Old Faithful Inn, which is on the U.S. Department of Interior's list of national historic landmarks. Other services at Old Faithful include a general store and two service stations.

Controversy continued over the National Park Service's so-called "let it burn" philosophy. The Park Service prefers its action to be called fire management, saying fires are a natural part of a healthy forest.

Park naturalist ranger Don Buss said the last time the park burned "very badly was back in the 1600s."

Tons of fallen timber, fast-growing brush, trees killed by pine beetle and nearly 100 years of fire suppression have kept an elderly forest intact as a likely fire victim, park officials said.

"A forest that is 200-to-300-years old is more or less preparing its own funeral pyre," said John Varley, a park scientist.

Five more families left their homes early Thursday in western Montana when the Madison Gulch fire grew to about 900 acres in the Lolo National Forest. About 50 people left their homes in the area Wednesday as a precaution from areas near Alberton, a town of 300 on the Clark Fork River about 35 miles west of Missoula.

There were 51 wind-whipped fires burning across Alaska; firefighters were battling only 16 of them. Bureau of Land Management spokesman Bill Rockwell said fires this summer have blackened 1.4 million acres in Alaska.

Ten families remained out of their homes in the area of the 3,000-acre Willis Gulch fire northeast of Boise, Idaho, and the state imposed strict fire restrictions, due to go into effect at midnight, on government land throughout the dry southern part of the state.

Bayhorse gets nod as park

BOISE (AP) — The state Centennial Commission has unanimously approved the central Idaho mining ghost town of Bayhorse as the site for the new Centennial State Park.

But in unanimously approving the recommendation of its Lasting Legacy Committee on Thursday, some commission members expressed concerns about the possibility that development of the site might not be economically feasible.

Vice Chairman Martin Peterson wanted assurances there was a contingency plan for the park if the current owners of Bayhorse, Umot Mining Co., maintain their demand for $400,000 for the property.

Officials pointed out that the state will be precluded from paying more than the appraised price for the 40-acre town south of Challis near the Yankee Fork of the Salmon River, and the appraisal must still be conducted.

Power use up 3.5% so far

BOISE (AP) — Idaho Power Co. customers used 3.5 percent more electricity during the first six months of this year than a year earlier.

But the state's largest electric utility said total power sales during the January-June period were down slightly from the first half of 1987 because of the dramatic decline in surplus power sales to other utilities.

Those sales, cut back drastically because of low river flows due to another inadequate winter snow pack, were down nearly 30 percent this year over last, the company said. Utility officials have said surplus power sales, which are used to subsidize regular customer rates, will run about a quarter of the amount state regulators expected when the current customer rates were set.

The drought also took its toll on agricultural power demand. With irrigation water supplies half of less of normal allotments, farm usage was down nearly 14 percent during the first six months of the year.

Residential customers used nearly 4 percent more power. Commercial consumption was up 3.3 percent and industrial demand was up over 5 percent.

Boise water use falls 15%

BOISE (AP) — Water use in Boise has fallen about 15 percent, one day after Boise Water Corp. said it faced a dangerous shortage and urged residents to stop sprinkling their lawns.

"We're doing much better today," company General Manager Ben Hepler said Wednesday.

Boiseans used about 55 million gallons Wednesday, down from a record 65 million gallons Monday and 63 million gallons Tuesday. Water reserves and pressure have begun to build once more.

Despite the water buffer, the company still is asking residents north of the Boise River to refrain from outside watering. Other areas may water their property every three to four days until the water shortage eases.

Local fire officials expressed concern they could not fight a range fire in the Boise Foothills similar to one last year that destroyed a home. The Old State Penitentiary, a Boise tourist spot, also has closed its doors for about 10 days because of a water shortage for drinking and restrooms.

Hagadone disposal plan OK

COEUR D'ALENE (AP) — The Kootenai County commission has approved a plan to dispose of about 68,000 cubic yards of demolition wastes, freeing Hagadone Hospitality Co. to proceed with expansion plans for its resort hotel.

Hagadone Hospitality plans to expand to the property adjacent to its Coeur d'Alene Resort, after demolishing the old Potlatch Corp. mill in June.

Under the plan approved Tuesday, the majority of the wastes from the former Rutledge Mill site, about 60,000 cubic yards of soil and log butts, will be taken to the county airport near Hayden.

There, it will be cleaned of bulky waste and then spread six inches deep over an 80-acre gravel surface at the southwest end of the extended runway. The bulky matter will be buried either at the county landfill or at a former concrete plant site.

Another 2,000 cubic yards of ash remaining from the razing of the mill buildings will go to the concrete plant site, where it will be permanently buried.

Pot plants seized

EMMETT (AP) — Gem County sheriff's officers have seized 400 marijuana plants, valued at an estimated $1.5 million, from a rural home near Emmett in what Sheriff Bill McConnel called one of the largest drug raids in county history.

The seizure on Wednesday followed several months of investigation and curtails the activities of one of the largest marijuana distribution centers in Gem County, McConnel said.

The house where the plants were found is about 10 miles east of Emmett, but no one was home and McConnel would not identify the owner of the house.

Allegations renew corruption concerns

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — Rumors that law enforcement personnel and others in the state's legal system take bribes are not new, but allegations made this week during court during proceedings in two eastern Idaho drug cases have renewed concern about possible official corruption.

The most recent allegations came Tuesday during sentencing of Robert and Randall Burnside in federal court in Pocatello. Witnesses testified that a judge, several attorneys and two probation officers bought drugs, and that some attorneys and law officers took bribes from those in the drug business.

No names were mentioned, which Idaho Falls law enforcement officials said makes any investigation difficult.

Capt. Kay Simmons, acting chief of the Idaho Falls Police Department while Chief Monte Montague is on vacation, said rumors of someone giving confidential information to drug dealers surfaced during the lengthy investigations of Linus W. Bowman and the Burnsides.

"I feel, and I know Monte does, too, that we just wouldn't tolerate that," Simmons said. "The chief is totally against that type of thing, and if he had information that it was going on, he'd get on it quickly."

All that's needed to begin an internal investigation is an officer's name and some basic information about the alleged actions, he said. "We would maybe set up a sting or some other kind of operation to try and catch the officer or whoever was involved," Simmons said.

Cyanide spill closes I-15, hospitalizes 4

COVE FORT, Utah (AP) — Four people were hospitalized and a central Utah section of Interstate 15 closed Thursday after a truck carrying sodium cyanide pellets spilled its load five miles north of here, the Utah Highway Patrol said.

Authorities said a state hazardous waste team was rushed to the scene to handle cleanup of the spill site. Sodium cyanide, if it comes in contact with water, forms a potentially deadly gas. However, no rainfall was expected in the area Thursday.

The UHP said a 50-mile stretch of I-15 — from Scipio to the north to the I-70 turnover near Cove Fort — was expected to be closed all day Thursday.

A semi-truck was hauling 180 30-gallon drums of the pellets about 4:30 a.m. when an estimated 80 of them ruptured, spilling the chemical on the highway, said Mark Burrell, a spokesman for the state Environmental Health Division.

The driver of the vehicle, A.C. Simons, 24, of Aurora, Colorado, apparently lost the top layer of his load on a curve, Burrell said.

Simons, Utah Highway Patrol Trooper Dean Shields, and two other unidentified people were taken to Fillmore Community Medical Center for precautionary treatment and examination, hospital spokeswoman Elva Richman said. All were expected to be treated and released, she said.

Another unidentified truck driver apparently drove through the area before the highway was closed and was taken to Holy Cross Hospital in Salt Lake City, Burrell said. His condition was not immediately released.

Simons was hauling the load from South El Monte, Calif., for Mid American Lines of Kansas City, Kan., when the accident occured. His destination was not immediately available.

Jury deliberations to begin

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A federal court jury was expected to begin deliberations late Thursday in the trial of three Navajo men charged with the slayings of two Utah police officers allegedly shot and burned while trying to break up a drinking party last December.

U.S. District Judge J. Thomas Greene began giving instructions to the seven-man, five-woman jury about 5 p.m., after which the panel was expected to begin deliberations.

In closing statements, government and defense attorneys argued over the veracity of prosecution witnesses who placed the defendants at a Dec. 4 bonfire in southern Utah where officers Andy Begay and Roy Lee Stanley allegedly were killed.

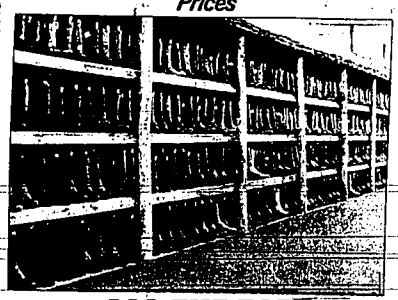

The officers' charred bodies were found the next day in a burned-out police van in Copper Canyon, near Lake Powell.

Assistant U.S. Attorney David Schwendiman told jurors that the five witnesses linking the trio to the killings had no reason to lie, as they are accused of having done by defense attorneys.

"If you believe those people, then these men are guilty of first-degree murder," Schwendiman said. "They (witnesses) were here to tell you the truth. Has the defense given you any reasons why those people would lie?"

Lottery is on ballot, but we should say no

Before we Idahoans rush to the polls in November to vote on a lottery for the state, we should study the experience of others, which has not exactly been entirely positive.

As outlined in a New York Times article last week, state lotteries have proliferated in recent years all across the country. There are multi-state lotteries, instant lotteries and a host of variations.

But while the allure remains high in some places, it has slipped in others.

New Jersey, for example, has begun printing "gambling warnings" on lottery information, somewhat like the warnings on cigarette packs. Gamblers' Anonymous organizations are sprouting like Canadian thistle.

What's more, the projected revenues aren't living up to expectations, and states are experiencing drops in sales tax revenues as money which once went to taxable purchases is diverted into lottery chances.

When the lottery was on the Idaho ballot as an initiative in 1986, it passed with about 60 percent of the vote.

But times have changed in the state and with a better economy, we think Idahoans should reject the lottery when it returns to the ballot this fall.

The arguments in favor of a lottery come down mostly to its revenue generation; it is said that lotteries are painless, easy ways for states to raises money for education, roads and services.

But this argument in favor of lotteries also contains one of the main arguments against them, that is that as funding source, lotteries are unreliable. Education needs do not diminish just because lottery revenue rises and falls with the purchasing whims of the player.

There are other compelling economic arguments against lotteries. Their revenue-producing ability is invariably overstated. In Idaho, proponents are saying a lottery could generate some $20 million to state coffers; a more realistic figure is a quarter of that.

Revenue of $5 million is less than one percent of Idaho's annual budget. That is not much money for a funding method which opens the door to as many potential problems.

Add to these arguments are some legitimate social and moral ones, the conservative nature of the state and the potential for corruption.

The bottom line, in our view, is that the lottery is not a good idea for Idaho and should be rejected. If Idaho needs additional revenues, we think they should be raised by revisions in the state's existing tax structure.

Letters welcome

The Times-News welcomes letters to the editor but will reject those it considers libelous or in bad taste. Each letter must be signed and should include the writer's mailing address. Letters of more than 400 words may be edited for length.

Letters

A question about settlement

This letter is in reference to the feature story July 19, "Widow Places Ad In Last Effort to Save Home."

"Please help me!" the ad reads. "I'm not Swaggart or Baker and I don't want to buy a new boat, plane or home. I just want to save my home." "Leah Bohrn, a 63-year old-widow, says she placed the advertisement in the Times-News classified section as a last-ditch effort to save her home from bank foreclosure."

"So far she has received only two $10 donations. It didn't even cover the cost of the ad," she said."

Bohrn goes on with her tale of woe stating she spent $36 to run her advertisement and $11 to rent a post office box.

Attorney Jay Sudweeks is reported to be providing Bohrn with free legal services.

Could this be the same Leah Bohrn who received a $41,000 insurance settlement on June 22, 1988?

Scouts were aiding injured

Concerning July 20th when Joe Campbell rolled off the road near Shoshone Falls. I was there with a group of varsity scouts from Team #100 when this all happened. We raced down to the bottom of the hill to assist in whatever we could.

Now, when we arrived at the scene there were people already combing the hillside looking for the driver. The truck was leaking gas all over, plus it wasn't stable.

No one dared get inside to steal anything. All the missing articles that Jamie McDowell is looking for are probably still on the hillside.

I, myself, found all sorts of material, which, by the way, made a trail that led me to Joe Campbell. He was on his back on rocks and stinging nettles. I, myself, and as others came, did all we could do for Joe until the paramedics showed up and carried him out.

I don't think anything could have stayed inside that truck at all. Debris was all over the hillside, including all the beer, which the hillside smelled like that night.

So you see, he wasn't alone at all. He had people there trying to help him, not steal things out of the truck. Some people do care about things like this and help out where they can. I hope Joe is OK.

Lack of decorum in court

I was in Small Claims Court some time back and had the great misfortune to have my case, as plaintiff, heard after Nolan Victor's.

Nolan, you see, had just lost a case and was not quiet about it. Bailiff even stood, ready to collar Nolan. Didn't quite happen, even after Nolan demanded that Judge Michael Redman, well, his words were, "I want you to disqualify yourself." This wasn't too bad, but he used some pretty strong references in telling the judge just why he should disqualify himself.

What was the case? Well, I caught this much of it. An elderly woman had apparently moved out of Victor's apartment house. She stated that the steps weren't being maintained that led to the apartment.

After she moved out, Victor had his manager paint said apartment. Court testimony has it that he pays this manager $300 a month, and well, seems Nolan wanted to charge the elderly lady $150 for painting the apartment, which, the manager said, took about a day or day and a half, somewhere in there.

Well, long story short, Judge ruled for the lady. Then came the tirade!

Now, two things stick in my mind. One was the lack of decorum which preceded my case. The other was a potential way to make some heavy money.

If I could just hire that fella at $300 a month and farm him out at $150 a day, why...he wouldn't even have to work Sundays.

NOEL T. KREFT
Twin Falls

Editor's note: According to court records, Victor appealed the judgment which Kreft writes about in this letter. Court records show 5th District Magistrate Judge Thomas Cushman upheld Redman's decision and fined Victor $100 for contempt of court.

When contacted, Victor said he asked Redman to disqualify himself before the case. He also said he "didn't want to stir the muck" and declined to comment further.

Re: articles June 28 and July 11, by Harry Massoth on the New Age.

I have decided to research to see if I needed to reconsider my position against the New Age, as Mr. Massoth recommended. The following is what I found.

Since the New Age movement is an extremely large, loosely structured network of organizations and individuals bound together by common values and belief, New Agers may differ over such questions as: when the New Age begins; how it will be politically structured; if there will be a Christ-figure governing; who the true avatars (god-men) or messengers from the spirit world are.

Nonetheless, they agree that they can hasten the new order by cooperating to influence the political, economic, social and spiritual life.

Because of the looseness of organization and no loyalty to a rigid, elaborate system of belief, it is difficult to find universal beliefs among them. However, certain assumptions cannot be separated from New Age thinking.

Following are some of these common beliefs derived from some of the leading spokesmen, such as Mark Satin, Ken Wilber, David Spangler, Lillie Wilson, etc.

1. New Agers believe that "All is one" - everything that exists composes one essential reality (ultimate reality).

2. This ultimate reality is being, awareness, and bliss.

3. God and man, a part of "All that is", man is likewise divine (God).

4. Man is separated from God only in his own consciousness; man is the victim of a false sense of separate identity which blinds him to his essential identity with God.

5. New Agers in any variety of techniques for altering the consciousness (meditation, chanting, ecstatic dancing, sensory deprivation, etc.) can enable the seeker to experience his oneness with God.

6. Salvation is equated with experiential knowledge.

7. Experience and intuition are the final authorities.

8. New Agers adhere to reincarnation and karma (Hindu doctrines).

9. Consciousness is ultimately determining. There is no "ultimate answer."

10. Since man is God, there are no moral absolutes since man (God) creates his own reality and does what is right for himself.

These are but a few of the common beliefs of New Agers, but to cover all the points and the Biblical and Christian refutations of the majority of these points would take essay form and much more space than allowed here.

Those wishing some Biblical answers are encouraged to look up: Isaiah 43:10, 45:5-6, 18, 21; Numbers 23:19; Leviticus 18:1-30, and 20:6; Deuteronomy 18:9-14; Ephesians 2:8-10; Hebrews 9:27; Malachi 3:6; Hebrews 13:8; and John 3:16, 36.

It can be clearly shown that the Bible condemns much of New Age thinking. Mr. Massoth in his opinion that nothing is incompatible with Christianity or opposed to Biblical teaching, is sorely lacking in understanding of Christianity and the Bible.

He shows his smorgasboard style of picking and choosing his desires and ignoring the rest. Biblical teaching does not allow this.

In summary, Christianity is not compatible with New Age as a whole. Where the Bible condemns, we also will reject. Where it agrees, we can work together for the peace of the world. Above all, I will serve the Lord!

Suggestions for reading

With all the deformations, the mentally retarded and chemically impaired people in our society, today it's unbelievable that some people have nothing better to do than mislead the public into believing that more of the same is good for them.

Mr. Schmalz, for your information, the best, juicy, wormless apple I ever ate was not treated with chemicals of any kind. This was years ago, but ever since then we have developed biodegradable controls that control pests without damaging a person's senses like man-made chemicals do.

I resent your implication that if a person wants a worm-free and juicy apple, he must take a dose of Diazinon.

I also do not like low protein apples. I like mine with a lot of vitamin C and the higher the protein, the better.

You use a lot of rhetoric in your castigation of Mr. Chisholm. You call his opinions diatribe. I call yours just plain chemical company brown-nosing and BS.

If you have not read the book 'Silent Springs' by Rachel Carson or 'Sue the Bastards' by Billie Shoecraft of Globe, Ariz., then you owe yourself one. The scuffle between Mrs. Shoecraft and Dow Chemical is interesting and took place at her home near the Tonto National Forest.

Spleen's owner decides he wants cut of hi-biotech action

Ellen Goodman

BOSTON — John Moore never planned to make his fortune out of his spleen.

The 43-year-old Seattle sales manager had already hit one jackpot. In 1976, he'd been treated for leukemia and recovered. Nevertheless, Moore may go into the annals of medical history as the Three Billion Dollar Man.

As part of the treatment to cure his cancer, doctors at UCLA in Los Angeles removed his spleen. He probably gave it no more thought than you might give a tonsil or an appendix left on the cutting-room floor. But it turns out that John Moore's spleen wasn't like yours and mine. It was unique.

Two researchers, Drs. David Golde and Shirley Quan, took his tissue and, using genetic-engineering techniques, split it, recombined it and developed a cell-line that could be enormously helpful to cancer victims. And enormously profitable as well.

The doctors neglected to tell Moore what they were doing with his tissue. For seven years, he came from Seattle for checkups. Each time they took a bit more blood, blood serum or skin. They never asked him for permission to use any of this for commercial purposes.

Once it has left the body, a person's spleen or blood or even urine is the trash that you don't want washing up on the beach. But these researchers took out a patent on Moore's trash. They entered into contracts with a bioengineering firm and a pharmaceutical company that were worth close to $500,000. These companies figure that the products made from Moore could be parlayed into that $3 billion by 1990.

Now Mr. Moore wants a piece of the action that comes from the pieces of his body. And last week, a California court ruled for the first time that he or anyone else has the right to his bodily parts, even when they're outside his body. Blood and bodily substances, those waste products, are his "tangible personal property." So Moore has the right to sue for some of the money.

Admittedly, John Moore's spleen wouldn't have been worth a chicken's liver without the doctors' brains. The researchers maintain that they were actually paid for their hi-biotech services, not for his raw material. But it was his unique material.

In the bio-tech revolution, it is the human body, not iron or steel or plastic, that's at the source. Are the bio-capitalists going to be allowed to dig without consent into our genetic codes, then market them?

Arthur Caplan, a bioethicist from the University of Minnesota, thinks of John Moore like a farmer with oil on his land. "He can't do anything with it. He doesn't have a drill or a pump. Only the oil company knows how to turn his resource into something valuable. Nevertheless, like the farmer, he says, 'It doesn't matter if fate put this on my land. If you want it you have to pay for it.'"

But until now, few people thought their bodily waste products — most of which will not be named in this family newspaper — still belonged to them. "With gene-splicing techniques, the sudden question," says Caplan, "is what right do I have to control what happens to my spleen or uterus or even urine? If someone draws my blood to test it, is it still mine?"

The court's answer? "A patient must have the ultimate power to control what becomes of his or her tissues. To hold otherwise would open the door to a massive invasion of human privacy and dignity in the name of medical progress." If anything is truly personal, uniquely ours, it's our genetic code.

This case has riveted the attention of the exploding biotechnology industry. The bio-capitalists don't want to bargain for every cell with its owner. The researchers don't want to share the rewards from their labor. And every hospital worker can envision a new avalanche of paperwork — consent forms — to be filled out before anyone allows the use of their "waste" products for research.

None of this paints an attractive picture. There may be people who market their tissue as if it were pork bellies or wheat futures. If we discover the cure for AIDS in one person's blood, he or she can offer blood up for auction. The whole thing lacks something called altruism. But when scientists go into big business, why should the patient be the only altruist?

John Moore has every reason to try and reclaim some of the take on his tissue. He is unlikely to set off a rush of people who go digging in their biological backyards. Three Billion Dollar Men are even rarer than dirt farmers who strike oil.

DEA agent claims mysterious leak sabotaged big cocaine operation

WASHINGTON (AP) — An undercover drug agent said today that one of the federal government's most significant cocaine investigations ended prematurely when word of the operation appeared in the news media days after the CIA said it would leak the material to expose Nicaraguan government drug smuggling.

Appearing behind a screen to conceal his identity, Drug Enforcement Administration agent Ernest Jacobsen said the 1984 leak ended "one of the most significant cocaine investigations in DEA history," which he said could have led to the arrest of the entire leadership of Colombia's cocaine cartel. The cartel was operating inside Nicaragua at the time, Jacobsen said.

The hearing was the first in a series by the House Judiciary subcommittee on crime into whether Reagan administration officials condoned drug smuggling and other criminal activities to further its Central America policy — especially winning aid for the Contra rebels.

The panel also is studying whether administration officials obstructed law enforcement operations, as may have occurred in the 1984 operation.

Jacobsen told the subcommittee that convicted drug pilot Barry Seal was working for the DEA in the sting operation. The agent described Seal's extensive contact with the Colombian cartel and with Federico Vaughn, identified by Jacobsen as an official of the Nicaraguan interior ministry.

According to Jacobsen, the CIA placed cameras in an airplane that Seal flew to Nicaragua in 1984 to film the loading of cocaine at a military airstrip.

He said the pictures had been developed at CIA headquarters near Washington and then "taken to the White House."

"The CIA wanted to release them to the press, to show the Sandinistas were dealing in cocaine," Jacobsen said.

The agent said DEA officials initially convinced the CIA to change its mind, but shortly afterwards, a story on the operation appeared in The Washington Times.

He said that story ended the operation, and the DEA frantically began to make all the arrests possible at that point.

Teen stowaway to be sent home

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — An Irish teen-ager who stowed away on a trans-Atlantic Navy destroyer with the alleged help of five U.S. sailors was turned over to a Naval investigator today to be escorted home.

"I just want to go home," Suzanne Twomey, 16, of Cork, Ireland, told Wake County Judge Fred M. Morelock, who placed her in the investigator's custody for a flight to New York's Kennedy Airport and then on to Ireland later today.

Miss Twomey had apparently slipped onto the USS Conyngham while it was on a courtesy call in Cork Harbor and was discovered aboard the guided missile destroyer Saturday when it returned to Norfolk, Va., after a 10-day crossing.

She was found in a 2'-foot-wide, 15-foot-long, 3-foot-high compartment above a refrigeration unit that she shared with electrical wiring and pipes.

Five sailors accused of helping her stowaway were jailed at the Norfolk Naval base. If charged and convicted, they could receive up to five years in prison and a $2,000 fine for aiding an illegal entry into the United States.

"There are no options but for her to return to Ireland," said Daire O'Criodain, a spokesman at the Irish embassy in Washington.

SUZANNE TOWMEY
Stows away on Navy ship

O'Criodain said Miss Twomey is a minor and has no passport. "She is in legal limbo. ... Our course is to get her out of this limbo as quickly as possible and get her home."

Miss Twomey was released Wednesday from Rex Hospital after being treated for an undisclosed ailment. She was being taken to Atlanta for a return flight when she became ill, forcing an emergency landing here, authorities said.

Assistant DA J. Franklin Jackson told the judge today that Miss Twomey was a runaway and an undisciplined child.

Clinton gaffe nets him some laughs

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Bill Clinton stepped to the podium and proudly displayed a larger pink eraser to about 150 educators.

"For BIG mistakes," it said. Clinton thought it was funny. So did his audience.

It was just one more followup gag to Clinton's yawn-inducing 32-minute nominating speech for Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis at last week's Democratic National Convention in Atlanta.

Everybody from local restaurateurs to national TV celebrities has had a field day poking fun at Clinton. And the governor is trying to keep the incident from ruining his image as a rising star in the Democratic Party with a reputation as a good orator.

Clinton had been allotted 15 minutes of prime time to nominate Dukakis for president, but he went on so long and to so little effect — ignoring flashing red lights and other attempts to cut him off — that NBC broke away in favor of convention interviews.

Search begins for sticky stamp

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The U.S. Postal Service began a 16-month, $700,000 quest Thursday to lick the problem of stamps that don't stay stuck, urging industry to produce an adhesive to serve as a "seat belt for a stamp."

Gordon C. Morison, a senior assistant postmaster general, made it clear during a daylong conference at Battelle Memorial Institute that the post office was serious about development of a superior, water-activated adhesive.

Unfortunately, the news that we have made in the last few days is that we're spending a lot of money on something the press perceives as insignificant," Morison told about 100 adhesive industry executives and technical experts.

He said the Postal Service would spend nearly $90 million this year for stamps, sales of which would generate about $8 billion.

"I don't believe there is a private company, including those that publish newspapers or sell their wares over the airwaves, that would hesitate to invest $700,000 to lower the cost of their product while making it perform better. That is exactly what we are doing," Morison said.

"We take it seriously because we know how important that stamp is to every American consumer," he said.

Adhesive now used by stamp manufacturers performs well when mail is sorted manually or mechanically. But the arrival of high-speed, automated processing, in which stamps are coated with a compound that activates processing equipment, has generated a need for a stronger adhesive that will keep a stamp on an envelope.

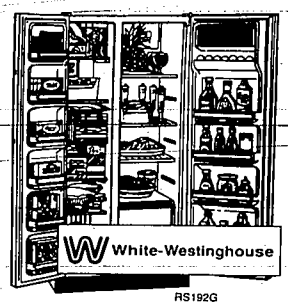

"The mail is moving very quickly through our system. In doing that, you are again putting a great deal of stress on the stamp," Morison said.

Songs of fruit flies

The male fruit fly sings to the object of his affection. Four tunes. How they differ and why calls for too lengthy an explanation. Doesn't matter. Our Love and War man says they make up a pattern of purpose common to all males of all species.

You know where Brownsville, Texas, is — around here you won't find many who realize that nearly half of Mexico is north of that town.

At the Battle of Germantown, Sir William Howe, commander of the British army, lost his dog. Americans found it, and Gen. George Washington sent it back with a polite note. Ask the veteran in your family how these two might have fared in Vietnam.

PILLS

Sleeping pills work for a few days. Even several weeks. Then the body adjusts. And they become ineffective. Even so, a couple of million people nationwide take them for two months or longer at a stretch. Studies show that.

Charles Linster did 6,006 pushups without stopping. He was 5-foot-6. Researchers say a man's ability to do a pushup, all else equal, is directly proportional to his height.

If you want to discipline your youngsters the way the Iroquois did theirs, don't spank the little darlings, just dunk them in water.

National drink of Poland is Mead.

LAND-GRANT

Q. Aren't the "land-grant" colleges those once given property by the states?

A. By the Federal Government, rather — 30,000 acres for each senator and representative in each state. Quite an endowment.

Never put a rubber band around fine silver. Not even if said silver is tissue-wrapped. Nor cloth-wrapped. That rubber can etch permanent corrosive lines on the silver finish. So says an expert.

It was Herbert Hoover who said, "Blessed are the Young, for They Shall Inherit the National Debt."

Q: What country in Europe has the most taverns per capita?

A. Ireland.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Get together with a conventional friend and pose this person some long-standing questions. It's a fine day to enjoy friendships and affection.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Because of the Moon's influence, an unusual situation can develop at your home. If you entertain tonight, make it a cheerful time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Be more progressive in handling problem affairs. Enlarge your vision with those at a distance. Get started on new ventures.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Study your home and then add modern gadgets that add more beauty and efficiency. If you need advice, consult your family.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Don't try to convince others of your own ideas, but go along with those who have made a big success in life. Be happy tonight with your mate.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): You are more highly inspired than you have been for some time. A fellow worker can be of assistance who understands your needs.

If Your Child Is Born Today: He or she will have quite an interesting life since many controversial people will come into his or her circle. Don't endeavor to get your progeny to follow the ideas and thoughts of others since the ability to think for oneself is strong. A great leader, this child will be a boon to humanity.

Blue-chip issues pace technical rally

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market strengthened Thursday in a technical rally led by blue-chip and high technology issues.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 28.63 to close at 2,082.33, erasing a 20-point drop in the previous session.

Advancing issues outnumbered declines by roughly a 5-to-3 ratio in nationwide trading of New York Stock Exchange-listed stocks, with 884 up, 531 down and 510 unchanged.

Volume on the floor of the Big Board came to 154.57 million shares, against 135.89 million in the previous session. Nationwide, consolidated volume in NYSE-listed issues, including trades in those stocks on regional exchanges and in the over-the-counter market, totaled 177.72 million shares.

The market opened on a tentative note as the Dow average flirted with negative territory. But analysts said the market was poised for a technical rebound.

The market's gains centered on blue chip, high tech and takeover stocks. A better-than-expected quarterly earnings report from Digital Equipment served to support technology issues, while the publishing sector got a boost from takeover rumors surrounding McGraw-Hill, analysts said.

Firemen remove mattress from gutted Mandela home

Mandela home burns

SOWETO, South Africa (AP) — The home that has belonged to Nelson Mandela and his family since the 1940s was gutted in an arson attack Thursday that apparently involved a teen-gang dispute and was not aimed at Mandela himself.

Police said no one was hurt and no arrests were made.

Police Capt. Ruben Bloomberg said in Pretoria that 30 to 50 black high school students stoned the home of the imprisoned leader of the African National Congress, doused it with gasoline and set it afire.

Neighbors and black journalists said some attackers wore jackets of Daliwonga high school in Soweto, and were involved in a dispute Wednesday with the young black "comrades" who guard the home.

Mandela's wife, Winnie, a prominent anti-apartheid activist, was bound for a news conference concerning detainees when she learned of the fire, which broke out about noon (6 a.m. EDT). Her daughter, Zindzi, 27, and her two grandchildren, who also live at the four-room home, were away at the time.

But neighbors and journalists said some of the "comrades" who often travel with Mrs. Mandela and guard her home were at the house when the fire began.

Jordan cancels West Bank project

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Jordan canceled a $1.3 billion development plan in the Israeli-occupied lands Thursday as part of what officials called a plan to give the PLO responsibility for the 1.5 million Palestinians living there.

Jordan state radio said the announcement was made after a Cabinet meeting led by Prime Minister Zaid Rifai. The radio said Jordan would continue its "national role as a confronation state and a prime party in the Arab-Israeli conflict."

A rebellion among the 1.5 million Palestinians in the occupied territories began Dec. 8 and has come largely under PLO direction. More than 230 Palestinians and four Israelis have been killed.

A senior Jordanian official confirmed reports in the Arab press that King Hussein is making broad changes in Jordan's relationship with the Palestinians, but the radio quoted Rifai as saying the new measures "will not harm the national unity among Palestinians and Jordanians in the kingdom."

The five-year West Bank development plan was established in 1986, by agreement with the Palestine Liberation Organization, to finance health, education, housing, and cultural and Islamic affairs projects in the West Bank and Gaza Strip.

The West Bank was under Jordanian rule until Israel captured it in the 1967 Arab-Israeli war. Israel captured the Gaza Strip from Egypt.

Although Israel occupied the West Bank, Jordan continued paying salaries and pensions of many goverment employees there, and West Bank representatives sit in the Jordanian Parliament. The 60-member upper house now includes 30 from the West Bank.

Two-thirds of Jordan's 3.5 million people are of Palestinian origin, including the entire population of the West Bank.

A senior Jordanian official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said of Thursday's action:

"This is part of King Hussein's decision to free himself from representation of the Palestinian people and leaves the doors open for the PLO to shoulder responsibility on its own. The king's decision also reflects the PLO's wish to take over all Palestinian affairs in the West Bank and Gaza Strip."

According to the radio, Jordan will "urge friendly and brotherly countries to continue their support and financial assistance to the Palestinian uprising in the occupied territories."

On Wednesday, the Saudi newspaper Al-Sharq al-Awsat quoted Rifai as saying "decisive developments" were planned to give Palestinians greater responsibility as an entity.

Al-Qabas, a Kuwaiti newspaper, predicted Wednesday that Hussein would dissolve Parliament and change the government, with Marwan Qassem, the royal court minister, the strongest candidate to succeed Rifai.

It said Hussein had decided to dissociate himself from the Palestinian question and let the PLO take the responsibility. Al-Qabas, which usually is well-informed on Jordanian affairs, said Rifai would become Hussein's personal representative.

Vietnam proposes joint MIA searches

HANOI, Vietnam (AFP) — Vietnam has proposed that the United States help in the search for American soldiers missing in action during the war, official Vietnamese sources said Thursday after a meeting with U.S. experts.

The visiting U.S. delegation, led by Lt. Col. Joe Harvey, head of the Joint Casualty Resolution Center in Hawaii, met here Tuesday and Wednesday with Vietnamese officials led by Nguyen Can, deputy director of the Foreign Ministry's Department of North American Affairs.

The sources said the joint program was aimed at "accelerating the implementation of the accords" signed by Vietnam's Foreign Minister, Nguyen Co Thach, and U.S. special presidential envoy Gen. John Vessey during his visit to Hanoi last August and during talks between the two in June in New York.

The proposal includes searches, investigations and excavations to try to locate by the end of this year the remains of 70 MIAs Washington considers "priority" cases, the sources said.

Cambodian negotiators exchange sharp words

BOGOR, Indonesia (AP) — Two factions in Cambodia's civil war exchanged sharp words Thursday, indicating that major hurdles remain on the road to peace after four days of unprecented talks.

Despite the differences, the informal talks resulted in a broad convergence of views on key issues and on the urgent need for a political settlement, said a closing statement from Indonesian Foreign Minister Ali Alatas, who hosted the gathering.

Participating were Vietnam, its ally Laos, the Vietnam-backed Cambodian government, the three guerrilla groups fighting Vietnam's occupation and the pro-guerrilla Association of Southeast Asian Nations: Thailand, Malaysia, Indonesia, the Philippines, Singapore and Brunei.

Their representatives gathered at the old presidential palace in Bogor, 40 miles outside Jakarta.

—Khieu Samphan, leader of the Khmer Rouge guerrilla faction, called Vietnam's contention that the Cambodian meeting had reached broad agreement "a shameless lie" aimed at perpetuating its occupation of Cambodia "forever through its puppet regime."

He accused Vietnam's foreign minister, Nguyen Co Thach, of rejecting all guerrilla peace proposals at the talks. Vietnam, he said, must unconditionally withdraw from Cambodia instead of linking a pullout to demands that steps be taken to insure the Khmer Rouge does not return to power.

Thach's statements to reporters were aimed at "deceiving the international community" he added.

Meanwhile, Hun Sen, the Cambodian leader, told a news conference that his party and the guerrilla resistance "have made efforts to find common ground. It was a pity that the Khmer Rouge rejected our proposal."

He said they proposed a national reconciliation council with the former guerrilla alliance leader, Prince Norodom Sihanouk,in charge that would include political but not military participation by the Khmer Rouge.

Vietnam invaded Cambodia in December 1978 to halt bloody attacks on its western border by the Khmer Rouge, who had killed hundreds of thousands of people in trying to transform Cambodia into a primitive agrarian society during its 1975-79 rule.

The communist Khmer Rouge is now allied in a guerrilla coalition with the forces of Sihanouk, Cambodia's former monarch, and Son Sann of the non-communist Khmer People's National Liberation Front.

Chinese black market thrives despite bans

BEIJING (AP) — The government raised the base prices of its best cigarettes and liquors Thursday in an effort to break up a thriving black market, and it allowed state-run stores to set the retail prices for the first time.

Store managers said that on Friday they will raise the prices even higher.

The cost of a pack of a popular brand of cigarettes went up nearly 400 percent, and the price of a fifth of a bottle of spirits shot up 750 percent. But consumers were used to paying at least that much anyway.

The black market holds a virtual monopoly on top-quality cigarettes and liquor in China. Private sellers bribe store managers to sell them the goods wholesale and then resell them to the public at inflated prices.

On Thursday, brand-name cigarettes and liquors surfaced in stores for the first time in about 15 years. Business was brisk.

At the Xidan Market in west Beijing, manager Liu Dajiang said he sold 1,500 cartons of cigarettes in two hours during the morning.

"We could have sold more, but we're saving them for tomorrow to see what price they'll fetch," he said.

China, the world's largest producer and consumer of tobacco, has 300 million smokers.

Across town at the Guandong Market, manager Zhen Ciping said wines and cigarettes had been selling fast.

"Today we're experimenting, seeing which brands the masses like," she said. "Tomorrow we'll raise the prices of the popular ones."

Customers complained the prices were too high, but they bought anyway.

"The prices are the same as you can get from the private sellers and that's too high," said customer Zhang Zhiping, holding four cartons of popular Zhonghua cigarettes at the Xidan Market.

The cigarettes went up almost 400 percent from 49 cents to $1.90 a pack.

Thursday's price increases mainly affected 13 name-brand cigarettes and 13 famous-brand spirits, although the costs of some B-grade items also jumped.

China is experiencing its highest inflation since 1949. Consumer prices last month were 19 percent higher than in June 1987. Last year, the previous high, inflation hit 7.2 percent.

In May, the government raised the prices of vegetables, pork, sugar and eggs as part of a far-reaching economic reform program to end state controls of prices. Economists hope to increase production and raise the standard of living.

In announcing the increases Monday, the State Council, or Cabinet, said it would let the price of the 26 brands be determined by the market.

Managers in state-run stores said that meant they could set prices and reap a profit from their sales, something unheard of a few years ago.

Twin Falls County Sheriff Jim Munn carries stolen items from storage unit while Probation and Parole District Manager Larry Hauber looks into room where some of the goods from the Willows Subdivision burglaries were stashed

Stallings, Symms back drought relief

By BART JANSEN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Idaho's congressmen endorsed the drought-relief package passed Thursday, despite reservations about its benefits to local farmers.

"I think it's a pretty responsive bill," said Sen. Steve Symms.

But the Caldwell Republican added that because of Idaho's successful irrigation farming, probably only farmers in the southeastern part of the state will be eligible for relief.

"I'm not sure there are very many people who would be eligible for it," Symms said. "I'm still one of those people who is bullish on the potato crop."

Rep. Richard Stallings, D-Idaho, a member of the House Agriculture Committee, said his measure to streamline crop relief programs was rejected because of criteria for granting feed assistance to ranchers who don't grow their own feed.

Rising grain prices spurred debate over offering assistance to agricultural factions hurt by the higher prices, such as ranchers. But some congressmen argued against such assistance for creating further subsidies.

"Because of the widespread nature and unpredicted impact of this drought, these producers are experiencing feed price increases which they could not plan for," Stallings said. "There are beef, dairy, pork, poultry and other producers who purchase most of their feed and by rejecting my proposal, the committee has left these producers without any type of help whatsoever."

Nevertheless, Stallings said, "This (bill) sends a strong message to the nation's farmers and ranchers that the government cares."

Because several agricultural groups were at odds over the bill, Stallings said dairy producers needed some added assistance. He said the current price support of $10.60 will be frozen beyond next Jan. 1 and there will be a temporary increase of 50 cents per hundredweight for the three months between April and June, when winter supplies will be exhausted.

Speaking during a teleconference as the House debated the bill, Symms conceded it may contain special-interest legislation. But he said, barring prohibitive amendments he would continue to support it.

"It probably does have some pork barrel," Symms said. "I'm not that enamored with the thing. ... If they pork it up too much, I probably wouldn't support it."

He said the bill should cost no more because as commodity supplies dwindle, money previously ear-marked for support prices is no longer needed and can be diverted to drought relief.

Burglaries solved

Filer man arrested after goods recovered from storage unit

By KEN ARMSTRONG
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Sheriff's deputies Thursday arrested a Filer man who allegedly stole so many items during a recent run of burglaries that he rented a storage unit for the plunder's safekeeping.

Wade Ernest Woodland, 20, was booked Thursday afternoon on eight counts of grand theft, said Harold Jensen, Twin Falls County chief deputy.

Jensen said sheriff's officials obtained a confession from Woodland early in the day, then started rounding up a hodgepodge of property purloined during a series of residential burglaries in late June and early July.

The burglaries occurred in the exclusive Willows Subdivision area northeast of Twin Falls. Woodland told deputies he stole the items to furnish an apartment of his own.

"We suspected that whoever stole the items was setting up housekeeping," Jensen said. "He was setting up an apartment to go to school in Boise in the fall."

Sheriff's officials recovered some of the stolen property at Woodland's home, Jensen said. However, the majority of it was stashed away in a storage unit at Advanced Modular Storage, next to Idaho State Police headquarters on Eastland Drive South.

"He's got a breaking point, but we just didn't know where it was," said Jensen, referring to the authorities' questioning of Woodland. "He just couldn't come up with answers quick enough to the questions we were throwing at him, and eventually he just threw the key to us."

Sheriff Jim Munn said the arrest stemmed from a cooperative investigation between the sheriff's office, the Twin Falls Department of Public Safety and the regional Division of Probation & Parole. Woodland is on probation for earlier 1988 convictions of second-degree burglary, illegal entry and petit theft.

"Our guard isn't down by any means, but we're so happy this rash of burglaries is solved," Munn said.

Munn and Jensen spoke while a team of sheriff's officials drew up an inventory of property recovered at the storage unit. Oriental rugs, wicker furniture, coffee tables, stereo speakers, pictures, statues, a television, suitcases, skis, a bicycle and a spittoon littered the ground, prior to being loaded into a nearby truck.

"It looks like we've got everything recovered, as far as we can tell," Jensen said.

Sheriff's officials needed to examine the suitcases' contents to complete their inventory. Jensen said most of the items would be returned quickly to their owners, though some would be temporarily kept as evidence.

Authorities could not yet supply an estimate of the heist's total value, but Munn said "it reaches into the thousands."

The burglaries' victims included a cross-section of the city's professional and business communities. Residences of Bob Latham, Latham Motors; John Jensen, Jensen Jewelers; William Babcock, a bank official; Dr. Robert Ridgeway, an orthodontist; Dr.

Peavey promoting pride in his party

By BART JANSEN
Times-News writer

RUPERT — Describing the unity of the Democratic National Convention and evoking fond memories of Frank Church, state Sen. John Peavey is helping restore pride in his party.

The Carey rancher said he now tells area farmers, "We've got to decide if we're aristocrats — the landed gentry — or are we becoming the have-nots."

"It's absolutely vital for the Democrats to win the next election," he told 30 people crowded into a room at the Minidoka County Judicial Building.

The speech and good turnout for Magic Valley's only Democratic lawmaker became another step toward increasing party interest this presidential election year under a banner of successful national politicking.

Twin Falls County Democrats drew 60 people in April simply to socialize and meet legislative candidates.

The party's state convention in June in Pocatello featured frank discussion of issues ranging from South Africa to nuclear arms, yet left a platform that Minidoka County Democratic Chairman Phil Bare noted was unencumbered by the issues that candidates might have to apologize for later.

And former Gov. John Evans has predicted, however incredibly, a majority of Idahoans will embrace Democratic presidential nominee Michael Dukakis this fall — despite having favored GOP President Ronald Reagan by 70 percent in 1984.

SEN. JOHN PEAVEY
Emulating Frank Church

Peavey recently attended the national convention that officially united behind Dukakis, and he spoke to Mini-Cassia Democrats about that unity.

Woodland's repentance apparently short-lived

By KEN ARMSTRONG
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Wade Ernest Woodland, described in court records as a religious missionary program dropout, apparently doesn't do repentance well.

"It was stupid of me to try and solve my financial problem with a bigger problem, and I am truly sorry for having lowered my standards to such," Woodland wrote following his arrest for a January burglary.

Woodland, 20, of Filer, eventually pleaded guilty to second-degree burglary on the charge, which stemmed from the Jan. 27 burglary of Swensen's Market, 115 Addison Ave., where Woodland was employed.

Woodland had previously been given a key to the store, from which he made a copy. Court records state that Woodland used the key to enter the store after closing hours and stole cash, food stamps, postage stamps and a cash-register drawer, collectively valued at approximately $380.

The next morning I felt very guilty, and — not being able to live with myself — changed the money in for two 100 dollar bills and one 50 dollar bill, and mailed them back to Swensen's with a note depicting a young boy as the culprit," Woodland wrote in his statement.

Woodland also stated that he planned to return the rest of the money, stolen so that he could repay another debt.

However, there was one problem. Woodland left his fingerprints on the note, from which Twin Falls detectives were able to identify him.

And there was another problem. Whatever feelings of remorse Woodland felt apparently didn't last too long.

On Feb. 22, Woodland broke into a house south of Twin Falls and stole silver dollars and a flashlight, among other items. Woodland also watched the Playboy Channel on the home's television, soaked in a hot tub and ate half a popsicle.

He later pleaded guilty to petit theft and illegal entry.

Woodland was sentenced on the two separate crimes and both times was given probation. He was sentenced June 22 on the burglary charge and on July 7 for the misdemeanor charges stemming from the break in.

However, there was yet one more, even bigger, problem.

Woodland was arrested Thursday and charged with eight counts of grand theft, all connected to a string of burglaries in the Willows Subdivision northeast of Twin Falls. Those crimes occurred in late June and early July, between Woodland's sentencing dates on the other crimes.

Twin Falls County Chief Deputy Harold Jensen said Woodland admitted to committing the burglaries, apparently because he wanted to furnish an apartment of his own. Woodland was planning to go to school in Boise this fall.

Linge given a chance to avoid prison

By CRAIG LINCOLN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A decade after he fled Idaho and skipped a perjury trial, Danny Linge has 120 days to prove he doesn't deserve prison.

Linge, 30, hopped a bus in Eden, N.Y., earlier this year after Twin Falls County prosecutors sent an extradition warrant to New York. Before the warrant was processed, he returned to clear his record and get on with his life, he said.

At a friend's drug trial in 1978, Linge testified that he sold angel dust to an undercover officer, instead of his friend who was on trial. Twin Falls County prosecutors promptly filed perjury charges when the jury disregarded his testimony and convicted his friend.

A jury convicted him July 13 on the 10-year-old perjury charge. Thursday, 5th District Judge Daniel Hurlbutt sent Linge to the Idaho Department of Corrections on what is called a "rider" in court slang.

That means Linge will probably spend the next four months at a work center in Boise where he will have to prove once and for all he's rehabilitated and no threat to society.

If Linge doesn't perform to Hurlbutt's expectations, the judge will send him to prison for eight years. That's substantially more than a prosecutor's plea bargain offer of probation before the trial.

DANNY LINGE
'No threat to society'

Linge, wearing a blue T-shirt and Levis, was bundled off to a county jail after his sentencing hearing. He didn't comment on the sentence.

The hearing was a heated, hourlong exchange of arguments over rehabilitation, the seriousness of perjury, the courthouse grapevine and quotations in a Times-News story.

Linge capped the hearing with an impassioned plea for mercy. He was even willing to do it under oath.

"Do you want to swear me in or anything?" Linge asked Hurlbutt.

"No, go ahead, Mr. Linge," Hurlbutt answered.

"I've been on the run for 10 years. I could still be on the run," Linge said, but wanted to get on with his life. "I'm married, and my wife is going to have a baby in a couple months. I'd stay in my house if I had to. I have a job. People trust me."

When Linge, wrists handcuffed, tried to gesture, one arm would have to pull the other along.

"Your honor, I'm no threat to society," he said.

Just before Linge's speech, Twin Falls County Prosecutor K. Ellen Baxter gave a spirited pep talk on the seriousness of perjury.

"I used to think I only got revved up about child abuse," she said. But "I liken it (perjury) to murder, because they try to murder the criminal justice system."

Public Defender Michael J. Wood said he'd developed an unusual attachment to Linge, who he called an "exceptional client."

"You have rarely seen me go to bat for a client the way I have with him," Wood told Hurlbutt. He asked Hurlbutt to focus his sentence on a new and improved Linge.

Courthouse gossip found its way into Baxter's arguments. Some people in the courthouse were surprised at the verdict, she said.

"No one's personal opinion of the validity of the conviction should be weighed before sentencing," she said.

A common thread in the courtroom Thursday was a prior plea bargain offer. Wood told Hurlbutt he though the prosecutor's case was weak and recommended to Linge not to accept the offer.

Prosecutors told Linge they would

Regatta coverage on ESPN

BURLEY — Area residents tonight will have a chance to see how the nation's premier sports network covered the Burley Regatta, held last month in Burley.

ESPN will broadcast a 30-minute program on the regatta tonight at 11:30 local time, Burley Chamber of Commerce Executive Bill Schafer said.

He said ESPN has not said what the program tonight will cover but he expects it might include film of the national championship races that were part of the regatta and the sudden torrential rainstorm that broke just minutes after the final race on June 26.

The network made two 30-minute programs of the regatta and will show both at a later date this summer, Schafer said. "They're hoping to get a better time than in the late evening," he said.

Kimberly youth stabbed

TWIN FALLS — A Kimberly teen-ager was stabbed in Thursday's pre-dawn hours while using a phone booth in the Twin Falls City Park.

John Meyers, 18, received a shallow cut about one and a quarter inches long, according to police reports. The stabbing occurred around 2:30 a.m.

Meyers was using the phone when someone came up behind him and stabbed him in the lower left abdominal area, according to police reports. Meyers told police that he knows who did it, but he would not identify the assailant.

Meyers also chose not to provide police with an official statement when asked to after the incident.

Deputies arrest suspect

TWIN FALLS — Sheriff's deputies Wednesday night arrested a Nevada man accused of burglarizing the Rogerson service store during the nighttime hours of June 22.

Bryan Richardson, 23, of Jarbidge, Nev., was charged Thursday with one count of first-degree burglary, according to court records. Bail was set at $5,000.

Richardson allegedly stole $273 from a cash box and approximately $40 in change from a cash register, said Harold Jensen, chief deputy with the Twin Falls County Sheriff's Office.

Sheriff's officials found several fingerprints on glass broken from a window during the break in. Court records state that those prints match Richardson's fingerprints.

Authorities also received a tip that Richardson had talked of committing the crime, according to court records.

Officers grab pot plants

TWIN FALLS — Using a tip received by the state's marijuana hotline, state and local authorities seized about 80 marijuana plants at two separate garden plots Thursday.

No arrests were made in connection with either seizure, said Merrill Kelley, regional supervisor with the Idaho Bureau of Narcotics.

Both plots were growing in Twin Falls County. Kelley said one was near Cedar Creek in the Snake River Canyon, and the other was in the backyard of a residence southwest of Hollister.

The house near Hollister is being rented, but Kelley declined to name the inhabitants. He said both plots are still under investigation.

The Twin Falls County Sheriff's Office and the narcotics bureau joined efforts in confiscating the marijuana. In addition, Kelley said the Idaho State Police contributed to the seizure of marijuana near Hollister.

Kelley said the plants were "dirt weed" rather than sophisticated marijuana. Each plant was valued at $2,000, using federal statistics which calculate a plant's worth if allowed to grow to maturity.

The marijuana hotline, based in Boise, solicits drug tips from throughout the state. Kelley said callers can remain anonymous, and rewards of up to $5,000 can be issued.

The hotline's number is 1-800-52GRASS.

Burley man faces charges

BURLEY — Cassia County sheriff's officials have arrested a Burley man accused of stealing almost $7,000 worth of merchandise from K-Marts in Burley and Washington.

Warren Oliver, 34, who was an assistant manager at the Burley K-Mart, was arrested Wednesday morning and charged with grand theft, Lt. Jim Higens said. Oliver is scheduled to appear in Minidoka County Magistrate Court in August to answer the charge.

Higens said Cassia County officials recovered approximately $6,700 worth of stolen merchandise over the weekend. The items had been stolen over a two-year period from the Burley K-Mart and a K-Mart in Marysville, Wash.

"Everything, I mean everything," Higens said, when asked what kinds of merchandise had been stolen.

Higens said Oliver had also been employed at the Washington store.

5 Elko BLM seats open

ELKO, Nev. — Five positions on the BLM Elko District Advisory Council are now open and nominations are being sought, says District Manager Rodney Harris.

The positions represent environmental protection, the public at large, renewable resources such as grazing, non-renewable resources such as mining and wildlife. The terms are for three years beginning Jan. 1.

Nominations from the public can be sent to the BLM at P.O. Box 831, Elko, Nevada 89801. A brief biographical sketch should be included. The deadline is Aug. 1.

Peavey

said American production may cost more because of the better standard of living, but that the United States government should not give benefits to foreign companies and countries that turn around and undercut domestic production.

"It's the stuff Frank Church used to talk about," Peavey said. "We've got to go out and stop these people (in the Reagan Administration) from pushing the standard of living down.

The late Church was a four-term Democratic Idaho senator who Republican Steve Symms unseated in 1980.

Peavey conceded that Argentina may produce wheat for $2 per bushel, while U.S. farmers are stuck nearer $4 per bushel.

"I don't think the U.S. is the low-cost producer per bushel," Peavey said.

But as part of the reason for that, Peavey cited costs of national defense, workers' compensation, Social Security, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration and the Environmental Protection Agency.

"We decided it's good public policy that we don't trash our air and our water," Peavey said. "Some people may disagree, but it's going to cost some money."

First stop, he said, should be large companies, as they continue to locate production plants outside the United States for cheaper labor.

"Maybe we paid off our credit cards, or maybe we even saved it," Peavey said of the couple of hundred dollars in tax cuts most people enjoyed under Reagan. "But these corporations got checks back from the government" and received $200 million to $300 million in tax breaks under Reagan, he said.

Further, Peavey said the United States should charge for defense costs, spreading out the burden among European countries and Japan that rely on it for free. He said per capita defense spending in the United States is $1,200, while in Europe it is $200 and Japan $100.

"This country bears a lot of the burden of defending the free world," Peavey said. Referring to the Persian Gulf, he added, "Uncle Chump — we're there."

Burglaries

Joseph Lyman, a dentist, and Tom Holt were all burglarized.

The Babcock and Holt residences were each hit twice, Jensen said.

Jensen said that prior to the arrest, sheriff's officials and the victims were planning to meet Thursday night to discuss the case's progress. "Now we're going to have a happy meeting," Jensen said.

"It's been a good day," Jensen said. "We needed this one."

Amid the plunder from the eight Twin Falls County burglaries, sheriff's deputies also found property from a Jerome County burglary and a pair of skis believed stolen from a Sun Valley ski lodge.

Woodland allegedly confessed to the Jerome burglary, but Twin Falls officials will not pursue charges on the two other crimes.

"We'll let Jerome and Sun Valley take care of their own," Munn said.

Officials are still investigating whether the burglaries were committed by more than one person.

"The sheriff doesn't think so, I've got mixed emotions and (Woodland) says he was working alone," Jensen said.

Woodland left a fingerprint on a car at one of the burglarized homes, Jensen said. City police had records of Woodland's fingerprints, and the two matched.

"I don't know how he did every one, but he just found out they weren't home," Jensen said.

Munn and Jensen both had nothing but praise for the work of sheriff's officials, including dispatchers, clerks and patrol officers.

"Every one of our deputies has worked on this. It's been a whole sheriff's department cooperative effort," Munn said. "I don't know how many times my people have gone over to the neighborhood and patrolled on their own time."

Wallis quits as marshal

BOISE (AP) — Bill Wallis, who feared he would be Idaho's first and last state fire marshal, has submitted his resignation, effective in December.

Wallis, 49, has overcome that fear and won the praise of fire chiefs, the insurance industry and Gov. Cecil Andrus.

"I'm tired," he said. "I've accomplished what I've come here to do. Now that I've done it, it's time to move on." He said he will work in the fire service or in private industry, following a few months vacation.

Board closes Downey unit

DOWNEY (AP) — The Marsh Valley Hospital Board has voted to close the Downey facility and join with nearby Malad to provide out-patient clinic services in both southeastern Idaho communities.

The board's decision on Wednesday came after requests for financial assistance to keep the Marsh Valley Hospital open were rejected by the Bannock County Commission and Bannock Regional Medical Center in Pocatello.

The Downey hospital will cease operating as an acute-care facility on Sunday and begin operating Monday as a clinic for a 90-day trial period.

The board also said all the hospital's current employees would be laid off and any medical equipment not needed for the clinic would be sold.

recommend probation if he pleaded guilty to the charge. At the sentencing hearing, Baxter recommended prison.

Linge shows no repetence for his lying, she said. Over Wood's objections, she read a statement made by Linge to a Times-News reporter during his trial.

Linge told the reporter he didn't understand why prosecutors pushed the perjury charge and called it a "waste of taxpayer's money."

"Even on the day he was convicted of this crime, he was unwilling to admit it," Baxter said. Actually, the statement was made the day before his conviction.

Wood took the blame for Linge's decision to exercise his rights and go to trial.

Linge shouldn't "be penalized for going to trial," Wood said.

New rules costly

POCATELLO (AP) — Meeting new anti-disease guidelines will cost Idaho State University's dental hygiene program nearly $28,000 in the next fiscal year, school officials say.

The new rules require more frequent gloving, the constant wearing of surgical masks and covering dental units with plastic, said Kathleen Moor, chairwoman of the ISU Department of Dental Hygiene.

Taxpayer says no free education for inmates

Abigail VanBuren
Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: The feature story of today's newspaper was the coverage of a college graduation ceremony.

All of the graduates were incarcerated at one of our state's prisons. We helped them obtain full college degrees. Abby, I take as many college courses as my available time allows, and it costs me a bundle to pay all my regular living and eating expenses.

I've looked for help. You have to be poverty-stricken before you can qualify for government help. It hurts me more to strive for my education than if I was in prison. Doesn't it seem that something is turned around?

— DARRELL BROWN, ALBUQUERQUE, N.M.

DEAR DARRELL: I applaud a system that enables prison inmates to become college graduates at the government's expense. Too bad every law-abiding person in the USA who wants a college education isn't given the same break.

DEAR ABBY: For five years I was with a wonderful man I'll call "G." We got along very well and, despite several setbacks, we seemed perfect for each other. We even talked of marriage and spending the rest of our lives together.

During the last three years of our relationship, G. lived in a distant state, and we saw each other only twice in all that time. Each visit was wonderful. We kept in touch, though it was very hard to be so far apart.

Over Christmas this past year, G. came to visit me. It was great seeing him again, but we had grown apart, and the whole visit was rather strained. To save myself the pain of having him break it off, I did it first.

Since then, I've tried to forget him and see other people, but it hasn't worked. I miss him terribly. So, I called him last week and we talked for a long time.

I told him I wanted to come to see him, but he said he'd been living the bachelor's life for the last couple of months and that several people wouldn't like me to be there! He meant "women," and I could die from jealousy. I wrote to him, just to keep in touch.

He didn't answer my letter. What do I do now? I just don't think I can live without him, but I don't know how to get him back. Help!

— LOST IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR LOST: Face it. He likes his life the way it is. He could even be otherwise involved and probably is. A good artist knows when a painting is finished. Save yourself further humiliation and back off.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem I've never seen in your column. At the dinner table, my husband gobbles down his food, then starts eating off my plate!

I am a slow eater, preferring to take my time and enjoy my meal. Am I wrong to say that he is rude? Or should I put up with it and get used to the idea of eating half a meal?

— SPEEDY'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Your husband is rude, and you may say it. But what makes you think you have to put up with it?

Simply tell "Speedy" to slow up, and if he's still hungry after eating his meal, suggest that he take a second helping and kindly keep his marauding fork off your plate.

Former auditor, 79, dies

BOISE (AP) — Former Idaho state auditor and Democratic candidate for governor Calvin E. Wright died Thursday at his son's home in Boise after a long illness. He was 79.

Wright was born in Kansas but reared in Burley. He had a long career in Idaho politics and business after graduating from the University of Idaho and Stanford University.

Wright was elected to the first of three two-year terms as state auditor in 1938, then ran unsuccessfully for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1944. He won the nomination in 1950 only to lose in the general election to Republican Len B. Jordan by 10,500 votes.

Jordan later was appointed and subsequently re-elected to the U.S. Senate.

Wright was a political protege of Democratic Gov. C. Ben Ross in the early 1930s, and was a pallbearer at the funerals of both Sens. William Borah in 1940 and Frank Church in 1984.

"Wright cannot be classed as a politician, as politicians are commonly known," wrote Idaho Statesman political columnist John Corlett in 1973. "A certain idealism clings to him, but he is always close to reality. He is a perfect gentleman in the vortex of state politics and intrigue."

Wright was named director of the Idaho district of the Internal Revenue Service by President Harry Truman in 1951. He held that job until retiring in 1973.

Before winning elective office, Wright was Cassia County Democratic chairman. He taught school and worked for newspapers in Burley and Rupert before being elected Cassia County auditor in 1934. He later managed the state insurance fund.

After leaving the state auditor's office and losing his bid for governor in 1944, Wright published the Minidoka County News in Rupert and managed Coeur d'Alene Hardware and Foundry in Wallace. He also managed the Raymond Hotel and a bus depot in Lewiston for three years.

Family members said he had been battling emphysema for more than two years.

His wife of 58 years, Gwendolyn, died last November.

Board sets discussion for search

MOSCOW (AP) — The state Board of Education will meet in Boise in about two weeks to discuss the search for a new University of Idaho president, but there is some disagreement over whether the discussion should be public or private.

Rayburn Barton, acting executive director of the board, said the board probably would decide to talk over most search committee issues in executive session, behind closed doors.

Idaho's Open Meeting Law allows for some personnel matters to be discussed privately by government panels.

But state Superintendent of Public Instruction Jerry Evans, a board member, said he prefers an open discussion about the search for a successor to University of Idaho President Richard Gibb.

Gibb has announced he will step down next June 30 and return to teaching. The board plans to name his successor at its meeting in Moscow next Feb. 17.

An ad hoc Board of Education committee met Wednesday in Boise to draw up recommendations for the full board to consider at a special one-day meeting, sometime between Aug. 10 and 12. A firm date will be set once board members schedules can be coordinated.

The board's next regular meeting is scheduled Sept. 15 in Boise.

Barton said the ad hoc committee — including himself, board President Charles "Tiny" Grant and immediate past president Roberta Fields — has drawn up recommendations on four issues to be discussed by the full board at the August meeting.

They include a job description, the makeup of a presidential search committee, a schedule for the search and selection process, and a standard evaluation form to rank candidates.

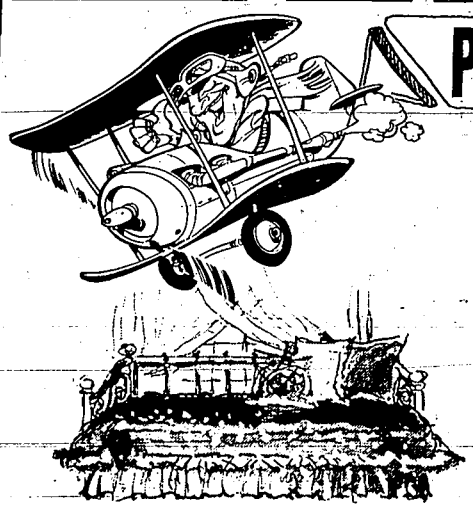

Barton declined to release specifics on any of the recommendations, including the makeup of the search committee.

Washington begs Markus Koch, carpenter, to come home

By TOM FRIEND
The Washington Post

MARKUS KOCH
Former BSU star

CARLISLE, Pa. — Former Boise State star Markus Koch's hiatus from the Washington Redskins may be about to end. General Manager Bobby Beathard heard from him Thursday morning and they talked each other's ears off, Koch apparently relenting with the comment: "I'll get back to you in a couple days."

The way coach Joe Gibbs put it, Koch's position on retiring from football is "along the lines of being a little softer." On Wednesday, he had left the team, telling Beathard he was burned out and hoped to enter the carpentry business with his uncle.

Now, some sources are saying Koch has already decided to return, although Gibbs said: "Bobby told him to just take a few days, and I think that's what he wants to do, sit down with his family and kind of talk it over. I think there's a chance that he will come back. ... I feel better about it."

Beathard said: "I don't know how good things look. I just spoke with him and I'm glad he called. I had called him the night before."

A dire situation along the defensive line would settle down a bit with a return by Koch, who is Dexter Manley's backup. Manley on Wednesday was suspended 30 days for violating the National Football League's drug policy, and — without him — the team must consider using rookies such as Mark Duckens and Robb White as important backups.

Duckens, a rookie free agent out of Arizona State, appears to be the best of the Redskins' unknown pass rushers, a 6-foot-4, 260-pounder who says just because he runs a 4.9 40-yard dash doesn't mean he's slow.

"I guess 4.9 seconds is all right," Duckens said Thursday. "But guys like Dexter run a 4.6."

Duckens saw Manley run the 4.6 with his own eyes at mini-camp. Manley had false-started the first time, and the entire team whooped and hollered and dared Manley not to mess up again. Duckens was then hugeeyed when Manley crossed the tape wide receiver-like.

But the Redskins invited Duckens, a former custodian, to stick around after mini-camp, and he said tackle Joe Jacoby taught him a lesson or three to get him ready for training camp.

He's a raw talent. He began his college career at Wichita State, was disciplined — his sophomore year — for wrecking some campus property ("I was stupid and followed a bunch of graduating seniors," he said) and went to Tempe, Ariz., when Wichita State dropped football.

Arizona State coaches told the Redskins he was a late bloomer, and here he is, the second-string right defensive end.

"I had a choice of a lot of teams," he said Thursday. "But I heard the Redskins were looking for young guys."

White, another free-agent rookie, is from the University of South Dakota and had his biggest game last year against a school called St. Cloud State. He is on cloud nine now, what with a chance to stick around here, but coaches say he's slower than Duckens, although stronger just the same.

Thursday, with Koch gone, was Steve Hamilton's first day as the starting right defensive end, and he said he trained this off-season "like a tight end" to be ready as a defensive end.

Hamilton's best days came in 1986, when he was a third-down designated pass rusher, lining up inside of Manley. That was Manley's all-pro season, but many attribute Manley's success to Hamilton, who applied so much pressure up the middle that teams couldn't envelop just Manley.

However, Hamilton injured a knee late in the 1986 season and has never been the same since. He agreed 1987 was a "disappointment," but he stepped up his workouts this offseason, even boxing at night to tighten his upper body. He also married, and the Redskins appear to like a more mature Hamilton.

Another defensive lineman to watch is Dan Benish, a former Atlanta Falcon, Tampa Bay Buccaneer and Redskins replacement player who perhaps saved last year's replacement game at Dallas. Ahead by six points, the Redskins were bending on defense in the game's final minutes when Tony Dorsett broke free up the middle and appeared to see only end zone. Benish, a defensive tackle, snared Dorsett's ankle and held on for dear life until someone finally crunched Dorsett.

And Dallas, losing its last golden opportunity, lost.

Benish worked as the starting defensive tackle for portions of Thursday's afternoon practice, because regular starter Dean Hamel was an hour late.

Hamel, sources said, had a personal problem and met with Gibbs. The meeting carried overtime into practice, forcing Gibbs to be tardy as well.

At the time, many figured Hamel and Gibbs were late because they were trying to persuade Koch to come back to Carlisle. Hamel is Koch's training camp roommate, for instance, and Thursday morning Hamel even admitted he had contacted Koch's uncle in Canada.

Cowboys gain district finale; Sage go home

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

American Legion Baseball

POCATELLO — Matt Rasmussen's two-run single in the bottom of the eighth inning capped a game-long, come-from-behind effort by Twin Falls here Thursday, hoisting the Cowboys past the Pocatello Rebels 10-9 and into the championship game of the Southern Region "A" American Legion baseball tournament.

Earlier, Mini-Cassia's season was ended by Idaho Falls in a loser-out contest, 4-2.

"This is a gigantic win," said Twin Falls Coach Mike Federico of the Cowboys' second victory over Pocatello in five tries this season. "I've been associated with the Legion program for nine years now, and this is the first time we've beaten Pocatello in a district game in Pocatello — 'in Pocatello' is the key phrase in that," he added with a grin.

Twin Falls, which will host next week's state "A" Legion tournament, will take on the winner of tonight's 5 p.m. Pocatello-Idaho Falls contest for the district championship at 8'clock in Halliwell Park. If the Cowboys lose tonight, a second title game will be played at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Pocatello had already qualified for state by beating Minico in the tournament's opening round Wednesday; Idaho Falls qualified by beating the Sage Thursday.

In reality, Twin Falls may have done Pocatello a favor Thursday because the Cowboys, regardless of their finish in the district tournament, will meet last year's state tournament host Lewiston in the opening round at state next week in Twin Falls.

"If we win it, the second-place team — which I presume will be Pocatello — will get the runnerup from the Boise area (at state) and then the winner of the two host teams," Federico said. "That's a lot better bracket than we have opening with Lewiston."

Federico, whose team came into this tournament just three games over .500, enthused about the performance of his ballclub, which is dominated by 16-year-olds.

"We had a bunch of guys clutch through at critical tiems all night," he said. "John Hayes came through with that early RBI single, Rasmussen had RBIs with another hit earlier in the game and (starting pitcher) Chris Smith, who was 0-for-the-year, comes up with two hits and four RBIs.

"We're on a roll," Federico continued. "We have won eight of our last 11 and seven of our last eight and they've all been against outstanding competition."

But until Rasmussen's eighth-inning hit, Twin Falls had never led, letting Pocatello's leadoff man score to open the game on a walk, two wild pitches and sacrifice fly and then committing three consecutive errors to present the Rebels with two runs in the second.

Pocatello's Ralph Obray hit a two-run homer in the third inning and Tim Swallow drove in two teammates who had walked in the fourth. On practically each occasion, Twin Falls came back into ties with an error giving Pocatello a one-run lead in the seventh inning and double by Obray and Bryan Atkinson's single provid-

But who's the QB?

The Los Angeles Raiders added another speed-burner to their receiving corps Thursday when they acquired former Olympian Willie Gault from the Chicago Bears for two draft choices.

But they still need someone to throw him the ball.

Gault, who led the Bears with 35 receptions for 705 yards last year and has 184 catches for 3,650 yards in his five-year career, was traded to the Raiders for a first-round pick next year and an undisclosed pick in 1990. He has been holding out and had not reported to the Bears' camp in Platteville, Wis.

Bears personnel director Bill Tobin said Gault had indicated to him "that this might be the time to change scenery." Tobin said the development of second-year man Ron Morris and rookie Wendell Davis made him expendable.

"Our receivers look very good out there. I think we have 10 of the finest-looking receivers that we've ever had in camp," Tobin said.

ST. MARIES — The opening round of the Idaho State "B" American Legion baseball tournament was dismal indeed for Buhl as it succumbed to potent Lewis-Clark bats and dropped an 8-3 decision to the Lewiston team here Thursday.

The loss dropped the Indians, now 29-18-1, into the tournament's losers' bracket, where they will play Kellogg 11 a.m. MDT today at Kellogg City Park. Kellogg fell to the Boise Gems 14-4 in another first-round game Thursday.

In other first-round action Thursday, Pocatello beat the Boise Senators, 11-2 and defending state champion Meridian outlasted host St. Maries 3-1.

St. Maries will play the Senators at 11:10 a.m. MDT at St. Maries Legion Park in another loser-out contest, with the the winner to play the Kellogg-Buhl winner at 5:10 p.m. MDT today in the consolation bracket semifinal.

In this afternoon's winners' bracket games, Meridian and Pocatello will square off at 2:10 p.m. MDT at City Park and Lewis-Clark will take on the Gems at 2 p.m. MDT at Legion Park.

The Cubs, now 31-13, beat the Indians with two big innings — the third and the sixth — after greeting Buhl left-hander Mike Brady with a two-run uprising in the first.

Lewiston shortstop Shawn Taylor led off the inning with a double to

Open divisions are wide open in Idaho Closed

By STEVE CRUMP
Times-News sports editor

TWIN FALLS — There will be new champions in at least four of the five open divisions at the Idaho Closed Tennis Tournament, which begins its three-day run here today.

Defending men's open champion Lee Galway of Ketchum, 1987 women's open champion Carrie Osborne of Boise, defending men's open doubles winners Galway and Chris Langdon of Ketchum and last year's open mixed doubles winners Langdon and Tracy Carpenter of Boise won't be back to defend the titles they won a year ago in this, the state championship of Idaho tennis.

Only women's open doubles winners Jane Chi and Lynette Schultsmeier, both of Boise, will return. Schultsmeier, who won the Twin Falls Open here six weeks ago, is seeded first in women's open singles and Chi, last year's singles runnerup, is the No. 2 seed.

Only Idaho residents are eligible to play in this tournament.

Competition is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. today in all the mixed doubles events at Frontier Field and Twin Falls High School, with the rest of the events to get under way Saturday morning at Frontier, the high school and at Harmon Park. The finals in all events will be settled Sunday morning, with the men's and women's open singles championships to be decided at 9:30 a.m. at Frontier.

This year's draw of about 100 players is down slightly from last year's turnout, and the smaller numbers are most notable in the open divisions. There are only seven players entered in both the men's and women's open singles and so few in the women's open doubles that it will be played on a round-robin format.

LEWISTON — The Twin Falls 13-year-old Babe Ruth team got a 2-0 shutout from Rob Studebaker here Thursday night in winning its opening-round game at the Idaho state tournament over Tri-County.

Twin Falls will play the loser of a late Thursday night game between Kootenai and Lewiston. The game is scheduled for 1 p.m. MDT today.

Nunn takes Tate's title

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Michael Nunn gave a convincing answer to the critics who said he couldn't punch.

Nunn dropped International Boxing Federation middleweight champion Frank Tate with a devastating body shot in the eighth round and finished him off with a flurry of head punches in the ninth round to capture the 160-pound title Thursday night.

"You guys remember, I don't hit hard," Nunn said after the convincing victory.

Nunn, who frustrated Tate early in the fight with constant movement, showed his punching power to Tate and a crowd of about 4,000 at Caesars Palace.

Verplank leads Buick Open

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) — Scott Verplank, trying to live up to the promise he showed by winning a PGA tournament three years ago while still an amateur, shot a 6-under-par 66 Thursday to earn a share of the first-round lead in the $700,000 Buick Open.

Fred Couples, Scott Hoch, George Archer, Tim Simpson and Greg Ladehoff were tied with Verplank after one trip around the Warwick Hills Golf and Country Club.

Idaho BCI team beats Houston

PHOENIX — Idaho avoided elimination in the Basketball Congress International Tournament Wednesday, defeating Houston 77-71.

The Idahoans will play at 3 p.m. today against an opponent that had not been determined at press time Thursday.

Jerome's Clint Bailey scored 10 points, while Minico's Dan Poulton had 4 and Twin Falls' Swede Trenkle 2 as the Idahoans took an earlier lead and maintained it.

Lapwai's Littlefoot Ellenwood led the Idaho team with 17 points, while Travis Stuart of Meridian scored 13.

DETROIT (AP) — Jeff Robinson allowed only Frank White's single in the fourth inning for for his eighth victory in his last nine starts at Tiger Stadium as Detroit beat the Kansas City Royals 7-1 Thursday night.

The victory, combined with New York's loss, put the Tigers back on top of the American League East by percentage points.

Robinson, 12-4, is 9-1 at home. His last loss at home was April 21, when Boston beat Detroit 12-3. He retired the last 18 batters and struck out three and walked three for his first career one-hitter. On July 2, he pitched a two-hitter in a 6-1 victory over California. The last Tigers' one-hitter also was against the Angels, by Walt Terrell on Aug. 20 1986.

Detroit swept all six games against the Royals here. It was the first time the Royals didn't win a game at Detroit in a season.

The Tigers took a 2-0 lead in the second inning. Alan Trammell led off with a single and advanced to third on Dave Bergman's single. Chet Lemon's sacrifice fly scored Trammell. Bergman scored on a two-out single by Matt Nokes.

Trammell scored again in the third. With two outs, he walked, moved to third on Bergman's single and scored on Lemon's single.

Kansas City threatened in the fourth when George Brett walked and White singled clenaly to left field. The pair advanced on a wild pitch.

N.Y. Yankees 1

NEW YORK (AP) — B.J. Surhoff had three hits, including a run-scoring double that sparked a three-run sixth inning, and Mike Birkbeck won his third straight decision as the Milwaukee Brewers snapped a five-game losing streak Thursday night by defeating the New York Yankees 6-1.

The Yankees, 0-30 when they trail after seven innings, saw their four-game winning streak snapped and fell from first place in the AL East as Detroit beat Kansas City 7-1. The Tigers hold a half-game lead.

Birkbeck, 5-5, allowed one run and seven hits in 5⅔ innings. He left with the bases loaded and two outs in the sixth. But reliever Chuck Crim squelched the threat by striking out pinch-hitter Ken Phelps.

Crim pitched 3⅓ scoreless innings, allowing two hits, for his sixth save.

Dale Sveum opened the Brewers' sixth with a double off starter Ron Guidry, 1-2. Joey Meyer walked and Surhoff followed with his RBI double that tied the game 1-1. Guidry was chased an out later after intentionally walking Molitor to load the bases and allowing Jim Gantner's run-scoring groundout. Yount then singled in the final run of the inning off reliever Tim Stoddard.

The Brewers scored three more runs off Stoddard in the eighth on Yount's second RBI single, Greg Brock's sacrifice fly and Deer's RBI double.

New York had broken a scoreless tie in the fifth when Don Slaught opened with a double and scored on Rafael Santana's single.

CHICAGO (AP) — Brian Downing, who earlier had a two-run homer, hit a two-out home run in the 11th inning Thursday night, leading the California Angels to a 7-6 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Downing's homer, his 16th of the year, marked the eighth time he has hit two homers in one game.

MONTREAL (AP) — Pinch-hitter Graig Nettles' two-out single in the 10th inning scored Rex Hudler as the Montreal Expos defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 Thursday night to win their fifth straight game and improve their record to 15-4 in extra-inning games this season.

The Expos stole a season-high six bases, the most against St. Louis this year.

Houston 3
San Diego 2

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Bill Doran's two-run homer sparked a three-run first inning and Bob Knepper and Larry Andersen combined on a nine-hitter as the Houston Astros defeated the San Diego Padres 3-2 Thursday.

Houston has now homered in 14 of its last 15 games.

Baltimore 5
Cleveland 2

CLEVELAND (AP) — Eddie Murray and Cal Ripken Jr. homered Thursday night as Baltimore beat Cleveland 5-2, ending the Indians' string of 11 straight victories over the Orioles.

Rookie Oswald Peraza, 3-4, limited Cleveland to seven singles and had a shutout until the ninth. He struck out four and walked two for Baltimore's third victory in the last 12 games. The loss stopped the Indians' three-game winning streak.

Chicubs 7

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Calvin Schiraldi pitched a three-hitter for his first major-league complete game and Manny Trillo drove in two runs with a homer and single as the Chicago Cubs defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 7-0 Thursday night and snapped a three-game losing streak.

Schiraldi, 6-8, struck out four, walked four, and did not allow a runner past second base. He gave up a single to Juan Samuel with one out in the sixth, a double to Mike Young in the seventh and single to Mike Schmidt in the ninth.

Schiraldi, who singled in a run in the ninth, was making his 121st major-league appearance and 26th start. Shane Rawley, 5-12, has lost six straight and is winless since June 13.

Andre Dawson went 4-for-4 to lead a 16-hit attack and has 15 hits in his last 25 at-bats. Mitch Webster and Darrin Jackson each had three hits.

Cincinnati 5
Atlanta 2

ATLANTA (AP) — Nick Esasky hit his second game-winning homer in the ninth inning in two days as the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Atlanta Braves 5-2 Thursday night.

The homer, Esasky's third in the four-game series, came off rookie John Smoltz, 1-1, making his second major-league start. With one out in the ninth, Eric Davis doubled and Paul O'Neill was walked intentionally. Esasky then hit a 1-1 pitch to left for his 10th homer and 14th lifetime at Atlanta.

ing Poky with its ninth run in the eighth.

Twin Falls managed only one run in a bases-loaded, no-out situation in the second, but in the third Shane Quesnell and Smith each stroked two-run singles. Smith sent two more runs across in the fifth and Rasmussen singled and scored on Hayes' base hit in the seventh.

In the critical eighth inning, Boomer Walker collected his second hit of the night and Mike Buster and Quesnell drew walks to load the bases for Rasmussen, who greeted Pocatello's third pitcher, Bryan Hicks, with the decisive base hit.

Clutch singles by Sean Sloan and Gary Jones in the ninth inning led Idaho Falls to victory over Minico and right-hander Jesse Villanueva.

Villanueva locked in a good pitchers' duel with Idaho Falls' Mike Gates until Sloan took over Idaho Falls' mound chores in the ninth inning and managed to preserve the victory despite the presence of Sage runners on second and third when the end came.

The end was a groundout by Kent Schow, who was totally dejected after it was over.

"If we ever had a situation where we wanted one guy to be up, we had the right one," said Sage Coach Cory Bridges. "Schow has come through for me for four straight years, but this just wasn't his time."

Bridges shrugged off the fact that Idaho Falls' No. 8 and No. 9 hitters were critical in three of Idaho Falls' four runs.

"They are tough throughout the order," he said. "Their eight and nine hitters are the third and fourth hitters at their high schools. They combine three major schools against us. Jesse threw just a great game and even on the last two hits he threw great pitches they happened to get their bats on."

The loss ended Minico's season at 16-24.

"We feel a lot better about today's game," said Bridges. "Yesterday we had 19 strikeouts today three. We put the bat on the ball but we had a lot of at-thems. Lady luck was not on our side."

dler on the 1980 U.S. Olympic team, gives the Raiders a relay team at wide receiver. He joins rookie Tim Brown, the Heisman Trophy winner last year, and veteran James Lofton, a former track star at Stanford.

But the Raiders continue to have problems at quarterback.

New coach Mike Shanahan says the front-runners are second-year-man Steve Beuerlein, who spent all of last season on injured reserve and has never thrown an NFL regular-season pass, and 33-year-old Vince Evans, who impressed during the strike replacement games last season.

If all else fails, there's always 40-year-old oft-injured Jim Plunkett, who sat out all of last year.

AND MORE TRADES

Owner Robert Irsay of the Indianapolis Colts, who acquired Eric Dickerson last year in one of the biggest trades in NFL history, hinted Thursday he may have another blockbuster deal in the works.

"We have some surprises we're working on," Irsay said at a news conference at the Colts' training camp at Anderson University.

Asked what kind of surprises, Irsay refused to elaborate other than to say, "Pleasant ones ... very pleasant big ones."

The Colts' biggest trade came last Oct. 31 when Dickerson, a perennial Pro Bowl running back, came to Indianapolis from the Los Angeles Rams in a three-way deal that also involved the Buffalo Bills.

The Colts have been linked to trade rumors involving San Diego tackle Jim Lachey and former Rams wide receiver Ron Brown, who left football to pursue a track career. Brown failed in an attempt to make the U.S. Olympic team during the track and field trials in Indianapolis last week.

Trade speculation was triggered this week by the fact the Colts still have six unsigned veterans, including guard Ron Solt, a Pro Bowl selection last season, and tackle Kevin Call, who make up the right side of their offensive line.

"There are a lot of players in this league and some of them will move," right and teammate Robin Lund followed up with a single to left. Brady then walked first baseman Todd Kolb, loading the bases and setting up a sacrifice fly by Cubs' catcher Kirk Booth, which drove in Taylor. But Lund was a victim of a pickoff at second base.

Brady fanned the No. 9 batter, but Cubs' right-hander Garry Skinner gave himself some breathing room with an RBI double to left.

In the sixth, Lewiston padded its 5-2 lead when Taylor cracked a three-run homer over the left-field fence.

Jeremy Schabot looked to ignite a Buhl rally when he led off with a solo shot over the left-field wall in the seventh, but Skinner quickly extinguished the flame by retiring the next three Indian batters.

In going the distance, Skinner gave up two earned runs on three hits and struck out five.

to Mark Scribner of Hailey, is the top seed in the men's open singles, followed by Nacho Larracoechea of Boise. Last year's runnerup Scribner, the head professional at Hailey's Woodside Racquet Club, is entered in the men's open doubles, but not in singles.

Schultsmeier, an 18-year-old Meridian High graduate, also made it to the semifinals of the women's open singles of this tournament a year ago before losing to eventual champion Osborne.

Osborne won that title match 6-3, 6-2 over Chi, this year's No. 2 seed.

Tim Crist and Rick Matheson, both are Boise, are seeded No. 1 in men's open doubles, ahead of Scribner and Walters. Scribner and Walters lost the men's doubles title last year to Galway and Langdon, 7-6, 6-4.

Larracoechea and Anne-Marie Degn of Boise are the No. 1 seeds in mixed open doubles; Walters and Chi are No. 2.

SEE MY ETCHING?

It is no secret that a sporty car is an inviting target for automobile thieves. Car owners who are conscious of this fact invest in anti-theft devices for their automobiles. Some manufacturers supply anti-theft devices as standard equipment. For its part, the federal government passed a 1984 law which requires that a vehicle identification number be stamped on fourteen specified parts of oft-stolen cars. With the vehicle I.D. number stamped on transmissions, windows, engines, doors, and bumpers, thieves are less able to sell these items from stolen vehicles. If a car does not come with this set of identification numbers, owners can have the job done by a professional with an etching tool. Other than locking a car door in the first place, it is probably the best and least expensive way to discourage a thief.

THE ACES ON BRIDGE — BOBBY WOLFF

"Experience enables you to recognize a mistake when you make it again."
— Franklin P. Jones.

If you think that experience holds the answer to today's problem, look again. Even an experienced player might go after the wrong suit.

South wins the first diamond and counts six quick winners. Three more winners would come quickly if the club queen drops doubleton or if the heart queen is found with West. Which suit should South play first?

The straight finesse offers a better chance than finding a doubleton queen, but that's not all there is to the problem. If South finesses in hearts first and loses to East's queen, he will never be able to cash in on the doubleton club queen. East will knock out South's last diamond stopper and dummy's club jack will block the suit.

To take advantage of either possibility, South should cash the top clubs first. When the queen drops, it's all over. South has a cinch nine tricks, using his diamond queen as an entry to the clubs.

And if the club queen had not been doubleton? South would still have had time to try the hearts, giving himself two shots at the prize instead of only one.

Cast prepares for musical in unusual way

Times-News photo/ANDY ARENZ

Jason Houser, as Adam, and Kamie Hobbs, as Millie, wed after a rather brief engagement in JUMP Co.'s 'Seven Brides for Seven Brothers'

By CHARLOTTE HOWARD
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Junior Musical Playhouse has prepared for this summer's musical production, "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" in some non-traditional ways, including a journey back in time.

Last month, the 14 lead characters spent two days in the mountains living as their characters would have lived in the Oregon territory in 1875, the year the play is set.

Each person had to wear his or her costume as they did the daily chores that character performs in the play. There was no electricity. The girls were not to wear any make-up. The boys had to cut the wood the girls used to cook the bread made from scratch.

All agree it was a great learning experience which also helped to bring the cast closer together.

Local audiences will almost certainly enjoy the results of these rugged preparations when "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" takes to the Jerome High School stage next week. The musical will be performed Monday through Saturday at 8 p.m.

The JUMP Company has a total cast of 70 local children this summer. The youngest is 7, the oldest 18.

This summer's production demanded 14 leads. Jason Houser, 18, plays Adam, the oldest brother who marries Milly played by both Kamie Hobbs, 15, and Heather Redman, 14.

Adam has six other brothers in the play. Benjamin is played by David Steinocker, 16. His younger brother Caleb is portrayed by Aaron Hendricks, 17. Raymond Robinson, 16, plays Daniel. Kelley Haux, 16 plays Ephriam. Frankincense is played by Adam Black, 15. The youngest brother, Gideon, is played by Chad Bounous, 15.

Each of the men goes to the town social and finds love at first sight. The men then kidnap the girls and take them to their cabin in the mountains where they have to stay until spring.

Dorcas is played by Jenny Parsons, 17. Ruth is played by Carrie Wayment, 16. RoseAnna Boyle, 18, plays Liza. Kim Patterson, 14, plays Martha. Sarah is played by Emily Capps, 17, and Alice is played by Richelle Hobbs.

Director Robin McCracken says she has found this musical different from the others that the JUMP Company had done because "since there are 14 leads, there are always at least seven people on stage at once."

Music festival offers free concerts

By BARBARA NEIWERT
Times-News correspondent

SUN VALLEY — After the heat of these long summer days, August approaches with an opportunity to cool your heels. It's a chance to sit back in your favorite lawn chair, picnic with the Pioneer Mountains as a backdrop, listen to a delightful variety of classical music, and perhaps best of all, keep your money in your pocket!

The Elkhorn Music Festival begins Tuesday and runs through Aug. 21 with a series of 14 free midsummer nights' concerts from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. on the Elkhorn Plaza.

Highlights of the three-week festival include "Especially for Kids" on Friday evenings, "American Composers, Past and Present" on Tuesday evenings, and a special "Friends of Amadeus" concert on Aug. 17 at the Kneeland Gallery in Ketchum.

For those of you who may be attending several of the concerts, there is a special bonus this year. The College of Southern Idaho in conjunction with the Blaine County Community Education is offering a one-credit, college-level course in music appreciation for people who attend all 14 concerts. There will be a sign-up sheet at each concert and students must prepare an essay on their concert experience. For further information, call 788-2033.

CONCERT CALENDAR

The festival gets underway Tuesday night with "American Composers, Past and Present" featuring composer Greg Steinke of San Diego State University and his "Wind River Country." The works of Sousa, Cohan, Youmans and Bernstein will also be performed.

Continuing on Aug. 5 will be "Especially for Kids — A Musical Zoo." Featured that night will be "Carnival of the Animals" with guest pianist Bruce Laven, who is also band leader at Wood River High School, and guest flutist 14-year-old Cy Gilbert from Twin Falls.

"Echoes of the North — Scouting Scotland and Scandinavia" is the theme of the Aug. 6 concert. Featured pieces are Mendelssohn's "Scotch Symphony," Grieg's "Sigurd Jorsalfax," Sibelius' "Finlandia" and Hallen's "Swedish Rhapsody."

On Aug. 7 "Sounds of a Summer Night" brings to listeners nocturnes and serenades of Mozart, Schubert, Mendelssohn and Wagner. Trevor Lewis will be trumpet soloist.

Compositions inspired by bodies of water will be played Aug. 8 in "Water, Water Everywhere," with

NBC series 'L.A. Law' tops Emmy nominations with 19

The Associated Press

UNIVERSAL CITY, Calif. — "L.A. Law," the NBC series about the glamorous legal eagles at a Los Angeles law firm, received 19 Emmy nominations today, while cable shows won 15 in their first outing against the networks.

Nominations for "L.A. Law" included best drama series, best lead actor nominations for Michael Tucker and Corbin Bernsen, best supporting actress for Susan Rutan, lead actress for Jill Eikenberry and Susan Dey, two writing nominations for former producer Terry Louise Fisher and four directing nominations.

The CBS cult favorite "Beauty and the Beast" and NBC's "The Golden Girls" each received 12 nominations.

NBC once again led the field with 114 nominations, followed by CBS with 87. ABC earned 75, while PBS had 27, and Showtime, Home Box Office and Fox Broadcasting Co. garnered six each. The Disney Channel captured two nominations, with one for the Turner Broadcasting System, while syndicated shows earned 13.

The Television Academy of Arts & Sciences allowed cable programming to compete with regular broadcast television in this year's 40th annual Emmy Awards because cable shows are now available to a wide national audience.

The nominations were announced from more than 4,500 entries. The awards will be presented live on Fox Broadcasting on Aug. 28 from the Pasadena Civic Auditorium.

NBC's "Cheers" captured 11 nominations and ABC's "thirtysomething" 10. CBS' "Frank's Place," a so-called "dramady" which has been put in limbo by the network, got nine nominations.

Earning eight nominations each were the CBS drama "Foxfire" and NBC's "St. Elsewhere," which just completed its final season.

ABC's miniseries "Baby M," the NBC miniseries "Gore Vidal's Lincoln," and the new syndicated series "Star Trek: The Next Generation" each earned seven nominations.

Showtime's "It's Garry Shandling's Show" received four to put it on top of all the cable shows.

Other major cable nominations included: "Shelley Duvall's Tall Tales and Legends" on Showtime, for best children's program; Gilda Radner as outstanding guest performer in a comedy series for "It's Garry Shandling's Show," and Billy Crystal for best individual performer in a comedy or variety show for HBO's "All Star Salute To The Improv."

"Beauty and the Beast" was nominated for best drama series and Ron Perlman was nominated as best lead actor for his role as the half-man, half-beast who lives beneath the streets of New York and carries on a unrequited love affair with a beautiful woman lawyer.

CBS' "Cagney and Lacey" a previous Emmy winner that was recently canceled by CBS, received two nominations, both for lead actress for co-stars Sharon Gless and Tyne Daly.

"The Golden Girls," winner in the past two years as best comedy series, was nominated again along with stars Rue McClanahan, Bea Arthur, and Betty White, all for lead actress. Estelle Getty was nominated for best supporting actress in a comedy series.

The nominees for best comedy series, besides "Frank's Place," "Golden Girls" and "Cheers" were NBC's "Night Court" and ABC's "The Wonder Years," a new show about growing up in the 1960s, told from the perspective of a 12-year-old boy.

Nominations for outstanding drama series went to "Beauty and the Beast," "thirtysomething," "L.A. Law" and "St. Elsewhere."

Galleries announce change in times for August openings

By BARBARA NEIWERT
Times-News correspondent

KETCHUM — Art gallery openings for the month of August will take place on Thursday, from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. rather than the customary Friday evening opening.

The public is invited to visit the galleries and enjoy refreshments and receptions for the featured artists, many of whom will be present. A walking tour of the galleries can be easily accomplished in one evening.

Your walking tour may begin at the River Run Gallery at 291 First Avenue North across from the post office. On exhibit will be the Southwestern serigraphs of Doug West. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. weekdays and 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays.

One door south is the Kneeland Gallery, with a show titled "Prints and Paintings." Artist Russell Chatham of Livingston, Mt., will reveal his new suite of five lithographs, "The Puget Sount Series," and several luminous oils.

Featured with Chatham is Seattle printmaker D.G. Smith, making his Ketchum debut. In addition, metal fabrications by Dave Granum, a Seattle sculptor, will be shown. The gallery's summer hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and noon to 5 p.m. Saturdays.

Traveling two doors north of the post office, at 391 First Avenue North, is the Friesen Gallery of Fine Art featuring a one-man show of the mezzotints of G.H. Rothe. Mezzotint is an arduous printmaking process involving direct work on a metal plate. Rothe is one of only three artists selected to represent the upcoming Olympic games in Seoul, South Korea. Summer hours are 10:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays and noon to 5 p.m. weekends.

Walking from the Friesen Gallery to Sun Valley Road and turning left two blocks will take you to the Stonington Gallery at the stoplight corner at Main Street. New works by local artists Michael Zapponi and Jennifer Bellinger will be featured.

Zapponi's unique fused glass has been exhibited throughout the West and includues pieces in Southwestern themes, fish, faces and various other figures. Bellinger will show new batik work on raw silk. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday and noon to 6 p.m. on Sundays.

Walking one block north on Main Street will take you to the Valley Artists' Gallery, located in Ketchum's Old City Hall. Members of the Valley Artists' Guild, painters, potters, weavers, jewelry-makers, quilt-makers and fiber artists, exhibit their work here. A wide variety of art can be found at reasonable prices. The gallery is open from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

Crossing Main Street and walking east on Fourth Street to the corner of Fourth and Leadville takes you to Oje Gallery which exhibits the art of environmental designer Joseph Kinnebrew. With exclusive showings of Kin-

Disney's 'Bambi' touches emotions with visual storytelling

The following are capsule reviews of some of the films playing locally in the Magic Valley. Ratings are by the Motion Picture Association of America and opinions are by Los Angeles Times reviewers.

BAMBI (G). Based on Felix Salten's novel, Disney's 1942 animated feature about a young deer coming of age stands out as an example of visual storytelling. The film contains only 900 words of dialogue, yet touches on deeply felt emotions: Few scenes in animation or live action can match the poignancy of the death of Bambi's mother.

ARTHUR 2 ON THE ROCKS (PG). This is so excruciating it should come with a surgeon general's warning: "This sort of stupidity may sap your will to live or to watch movies ever again." It reprises the irrepressible Arthur Bach (Dudley Moore), still richer than Donald Trump's wildest dreams, and his now-wife Linda (Liza Minnelli), still besotted with him, although this time it is impossible to know why. Back for the merest of moments is John Gielgud, this time as Arthur's guardian angel, with lines that make you cringe for him.

COMING TO AMERICA (R). As a 21-year-old princeling of Zamunda, a mythical African kingdom, Murphy reins in his scatology, making do with a soupcon of bathroom humor. John Landis, directing from Murphy's original story, has created a plentiful waste of time and money. Also stars Arsenio Hall, John Amos and James Earl Jones.

'CROCODILE' DUNDEE II (PG). Discursive but almost as much fun as the first outing with that archetypal Australian bloke, played with such winning ease by Paul Hogan. This time out, Crocodile's lady (Linda Kozlowski), a New York reporter, is endangered by a Central American drug kingpin, sending the couple deep in hiding in the Australian bush. Nothing special as an action adventure but shrewdly effective as a projection of a mythical hero.

THE DEAD POOL (R). Nobody squints like Clint, and in this fifth of the Eastwood "Dirty Harry" series, our man once again squints up a storm, descending gingerly into another cesspool of urban slime and .44 magnum sexuality — along with a cult horror director (Liam Neeson), whose betting pool on celebrity deaths backfires bloodily. Eastwood is good as always — full of coiled tension and wry, whispering irony — but the movie has an overly stylized media-fable script and nearly styleless direction by Malpaso's second unit specialist, Buddy Van Horn.

DIE HARD (R). Archtypal big-deal Hollywood exploitation, technically breathtaking yet disgusting and silly. Bruce Willis, however, is terrific as a witty New York cop conducting a one-man war against a bunch of terrorists who have taken over a Los Angeles office tower. With Reginald Veljohnson, Bonnie Bedelia and Alan Rickman.

LICENSE TO DRIVE (PG-13). In their theatrical feature debuts writer Neil Tolkin and director Greg Beeman get as carried away as their young hero (Corey Haim) who has just failed his driver's license exam but cannot resist borrowing his grandfather's vintage Caddie for an unexpected date with the most beautiful girl (Heather Graham) in school. Hairbreadth predicaments ensue, but the film's makers forget to bring impressionable young audiences down to earth in regard to legal and safe driving.

WHO FRAMED ROGER RABBIT (PG). Dense, satisfying, feverishly inventive and a technical marvel, "Who Framed Roger Rabbit" has Robert Zemeckis ("Back to the Future"), as its director and Richard Williams, an Academy Award winner for "A Christmas Carol" (1972), as director of animation, under the joined banners of Disney's Touchstone and Steven Spielberg's Amblin companies. All hands and the artists involved may have created a film that no one sees just once. But — animation aside — the treasure of the piece is Bob Hoskins' pungent, visceral comic performance.

Movie reviews

'Midnight Run' is murderously funny

By MICHAEL WILMINGTON
The Los Angeles Times

HOLLYWOOD — Robert De Niro and Charles Grodin, stars of the expert, sometimes murderously funny chase comedy "Midnight Run," are not the kind of actors you would normally expect to see together. De Niro has a genius for full-blooded psychology and emotionalism; Grodin is a comic specialist in white-collar neurotics who tends to dance over his material lightly, ironically.

Review

But in movies, as in life, opposites sometimes attract. In "Midnight Run," De Niro and Grodin play characters as antagonistic as their acting styles: a kind of crime movie Odd Couple, a Laurel and Hardy on the run.

They are cast as hard-case bounty hunter Jack Walsh (De Niro) and soft-shelled embezzler Jonathan Mardukas (Grodin), whom Walsh is bringing back to a sleazy, double-dealing Los Angeles bail bondsman, against almost all odds.

Most of "Midnight Run" is set on a wild cross-country chase from New York to Los Angeles, with tough Walsh and beleaguered Mardukas trying to elude both the Mafia and the FBI — and, in the midst of chaos and jeopardy, learning to respect and even love each other.

It is not a very original idea or a very inventive screenplay: one more buddy-buddy crime comedy, with a tightly suppressed homoerotic undercurrent, loaded with car crashes, gunfights and exploding helicopters.

But who said movies always have to be original? This one is redeemed by execution and brilliant talent: De Niro, Grodin, director Martin Brest, composer Danny Elfman, most of the cast and technicians. It is one case where the flaws of the script — Walsh's incredibly rapid location of a man on the lam from both the mob and the government, the relative absence of women, the tight but predictable form — do not really matter. There is some soul behind the explosions, a heartbeat below the slick carnage.

In the film, Walsh and Mardukas, hunter and hunted, almost seem to be inhabiting separate planets; this charmingly naive accountant who embezzled millions of dollars from the mob and donated most of it to charity, and the embittered ex-cop, who initially despises him.

AP Laserphoto

Walsh and Mardukas seem unlike in almost every possible way: streetwise vs. college-smooth, rough vs. genteel, junk food and cigarettes vs. health food, loner vs. family man. Walsh is stoical, the Duke a kvetch. Walsh is lean, mean, lower middle class; the Duke a bourgeois with smooth-skinned ideals and baby-fat rhetoric.

Brest and screenwriter George Gallo — who also wrote Brian De Palma's nightmare Mafioso comedy "Wise Guys" — give these two a unifying trait and grudge. They are both idealists, and both have been wronged by Mafia boss Jimmy Serrano, symbol of society's corrupt center. That idealism draws them together. The movie is really about two inwardly cockeyed Galahads united against a stupidly violent world, riddled with greed, mendacity and hypocrisy.

Still, it is essentially a comic vision. There is one solidly evil character: Serrano, an ice-cold killer of a Mafia boss, whom ex-Chicago cop Dennis Farina plays with a frighteningly convincing brutality.

Cerebral Palsy benefit planned for weekend

The Times-News

TWIN FALLS — Two days of family fun can be found at the United Cerebral Palsy Super Weekend.

The event, sponsored annually by Circle K, will take place in the Circle K parking lot at 890 Washington South.

Activities begin with breakfast at 6:00 a.m. Saturday and Sunday. Scrambled eggs, sausage and pancakes will be served until 10.00 a.m.

A 12-hour flea market begins at 8:00 a.m. Saturday and Sunday. With 68 entries, including commercial and individual vendors, there are sure to be some great finds.

Also beginning at 8:00 a.m. Saturday will be a Roof-A-Thon. A Circle K manager will stay on the store's roof soliciting United Cerebral Palsy donations for a minimum of 36 hours.

Six Twin Falls car dealerships will compete in a road rally beginning at 10:00 a.m. Saturday. Competitors must drive a 100-mile course in a designated amount of time. A trophy will be awarded to the team which comes the closest to this predetermined time.

Following the dealership rally will be an open class rally. Anyone with a valid driver's license and auto insurance may enter. A $25 per vehicle entry fee is suggested.

The Celebrity Pie Auction, which begins at 6:00 p.m. Saturday, promises to be messy — but entertaining. Gifts, donated by local businesses, will be auctioned off. The highest bidder not only receives the gift, but can also throw a pie in the face of a disc jockey or local business owner.

Local musician plays Carnegie

The Times-News

Joanne Fulkerson, a 1962 graduate of Jerome High School who now lives in Payette, realized a musician's dream when she performed at Carnegie Hall on May 30.

The experience was "every bit as exciting" as she expected, Fulkerson said.

She was delighted even with the concert hall itself, adding, "You could sit the whole town of Payette inside there. The sound is unbelievable."

Fulkerson is a member of the Treasure Valley Chorale of Ontario, Oregon, which joined seven other choirs from around the country in a performance of the Brahms Requiem. The combined choirs from Minnesota, Kentucky, North Carolina, Tennessee, Michigan, Georgia, and Oregon were conducted by Michael Morgan, Assistant Conductor of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and accompanied by the Manhattan Philharmonic.

But she says that this is working out well because "it moves quickly" and there "isn't a low" in the production.

Besides there being 14 lead characters, one is double cast. "This makes it more of a variety and a big challenge," say Hobbs and Redman, who share the lead role of Milly. They feel they have been able to learn from each other and see just what they need to do to make it better while watching the other.

Houser, who plays opposite the two girls, says much of the time it has been a "challenge."

"I play Adam a little different with each of them. Sometimes it is hard to do, but I enjoy it," he says.

Tickets can be purchased from members of the cast and from these outlets: Andrew's Hallmark, Judi's Bookstore, Gem State Realty, Transformations Unlimited, Vickie's Flowers in Twin Falls, Stokes Food Center and Mr. Florist of Jerome, and Sav-Mor Drug of Buhl. Admission is $15 for a family ticket, $5 for an adult ticket, $4 for senior citizens, and group tickets can be bought for groups of more than 20 for $2 a person. For more information call Sandy Hobbs at 733-3853.

On Aug. 13 an all-Spanish program can be heard titled "Fiesta, Ole!" It will feature mezzo-soprano Kimball Wheeler in songs by DeFalla and excerpts from "Carmen."

Aug. 14 takes listeners "On a Magic Carpet" in "A Major Tour of Asia Minor." The music of Rimsky-Korsakoff, Borodin, Ippolitov-Ivanov, Ketelby and Verdi will be performed.

On Aug. 15 listeners can hear the music of the 18th century in a concert titled "Peruke & Periwig." Bach's "Praeludium," Haydn's "Symphony No. 88" and Mozart's "Horn Concerto No. 2" will be performed with Jeffry Kirschen as the horn soloist.

Listeners can again hear American Composers on Aug. 16 when William Wallace will present his world premiere of "Symphonic Variations," composed especially for the Elkhorn Music Festival Orchestra.

On Aug. 19 kids will enjoy the concert once again when Jerry Shively of Idaho Falls presents "Tubby the Tuba."

"Romany Romp" will feature music inspired by the Gypsies with works of Bartok, Liszt, Hubary, Brahms and Monti.

"Playing Favorites" brings the festival to a close Aug. 21 in a tribute to all festival volunteers. The "Hummel Trumpet Concerto" will be featured with Nick Norton as trumpet soloist.

FESTIVAL HISTORY

The Elkhorn Music Festival was founded in 1985 by conductor, composer and violist Dr. Carl Eberl. A conductor and recording artist in New York City for 2-5 years, Eberl's numerous recordings include "The Third Stream," "The best of the Modern Jazz Quartet" and "The Red Mill."

The festival is Idaho's first and to date, only professional chamber orchestra.

An Orchestral Training Program has been started by the festival, inviting talented Young Artist Competition winners planning careers in symphonic organizations to participate in designated rehearsals and concerts.

News series hits prime-time — Page 2

NBC checks out advantages of summer prime-time news series

By PAUL ELIE

For NBC, there are many advantages to having a news series like "Summer Showcase" on its summer prime-time schedule.

For starters, "Summer Showcase" offers a prime-time slot on Tuesday evenings to the network's news division. (Unlike the news divisions at CBS and ABC, NBC News does not produce a prime-time series during the regular season.) The series gives air time to NBC correspondents such as Connie Chung, who hosts four episodes, and the up-and-coming Maria Shriver and Deborah Norville. Sometimes it gives air time to NBC stars, such as Bill Cosby and Betty White, who served as "experts" on the recent episode about aging.

It also saves money for the network, which can produce news shows for a fraction of the cost of buying a sitcom or drama from an independent producer. And it offers NBC fresh programming in a rerun-filled summer schedule that has been weakened further by the writers' strike, which has left all three networks without many new series, specials or TV movies.

The four episodes hosted by Chung were set to air independently, until the news and entertainment divisions decided to package them as a summer series.

"We've been working on them for months," says Chung. "We already had several of them in the works when NBC entertainment offered us this time slot. Otherwise we would've had to wait until the end of August."

Chung's specials have been criticized for their style — they often seem like a dozen brief reports strung together in a single hour — and for her upbeat manner, which critic Tom Shales called "her version of USA Today speak."

Shales and others have compared this fragmented approach to that of the Fox network's "A Current Affair," which is hosted by Chung's husband, former NBC correspondent Maury Povich. That show, which presents bizarre stories in a shrill, relentless style, has been both praised and condemned for its straight-to-the-jugular TV journalism.

"The attention is unbelievable," Chung says of "A Current Affair." "They've had good subjects so far, I think. I'm always saying to Maury, 'Where did you get that story? We could have done that story!'" This week's "Summer Showcase" episode is a documentary that is completely unlike the Chung-anchored programs. "The Pension Cookie Jar," which airs Tuesday, Aug. 2, is the last production for NBC by Reuven Frank, a two-time president of NBC News and the creator and producer of "The Huntley-Brinkley Report." At the end of August, Frank will retire from the network and accept a fellowship at the Gannett Center for Media Studies, a program at the Columbia School of Journalism, and begin work on a scholarly history of television news.

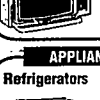

Not surprisingly, "The Pension Cookie Jar" is a thorough, unspectacular inquiry into corporate pensions plans. The host is John Palmer, who just finished a week of subbing for Bryant Gumbel on "Today." His sources, as the hour unfolds, are the former employees of The Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company (A&P), whose savings were used to offset the corporation's debts in 1981.

"People don't know that the issue of pensions affects them," Frank says. "And it's technical, so it turns them off. But if you tell it as a story about one corporation, if you say it's about the A&P, that gets their attention."

ON THE COVER Connie Chung hosts a number of documentaries on "Summer Showcase," a prime-time documentary series from NBC News. The series airs on Tuesdays.

Streisand began with Garland hit

Q: Can you settle an argument? What was Barbra Streisand's first record, and how old was she when she made it? – R.R.

A: I checked with Streisand's longtime manager, Marty Erlichman. He says the first platter from la Streisand was a demo of the Judy Garland classic, "Zing Went the Strings of My Heart." Barbra's rendition was committed to wax when she was 14 years old. Erlichman says he has a copy of the platter - and it's not for sale.

Q: What's become of Malcomb McDowell; the British actor who appeared in that erotic "Caligula" movie? – J.O.

A: Malcomb, 45, seems to be going through a mid-life crisis, both professionally and personally. He hasn't been heard from in Hollywood in any forceful way recently on-screen or off. What little has come through isn't heartening. My spies tell me he's now living in Santa Monica, Calif., alone. Seems he departed the household he shared with actress-wife Mary Steenburgen and their children.

Q: What happened to the romance linking socialite Cornelia Guest and Sylvester Stallone? — N.D.

A: That one went, as they say in old-fashioned Hollywood Westerns, "that-a-way." After a brief fling, Cornelia and Sly decided to branch out a bit. That decision came as a relief to his mother, who once said Guest would make a great field general. Ahyway, Cornelia is keeping herself busy by planning with a chum to open a restaurant in Hollywood — called, appropriately enough, "Cornelia."

Q: Isn't it strange that Liza Minnelli, who underwent a much-publicized round of alcohol rehab at the Betty Ford Center, winds up playing a drunk in her latest flick? — E.H.

A: When I asked her about this, Liza replied, "The two things I never thought I'd be making a move about are alcoholism and infertility — two things that have occurred in my life." Fact is that in "Arthur 2 on the Rocks," opposite Dudley Moore, Liza doesn't play a drunk, she plays the wife of the constantly inebriated title character. Minnelli's movie career isn't exactly skyrocketing now, so the "Arthur" flick presented itself as a good carreer move. Or, as Liza puts it, "It's only a movie."

Q: What's this about a feud between Jane Fonda and Burt Lancaster? What's it all about? — M.R.

A: Jane, who has a big hand in producing the movies she makes, recently completed a pic titled "Old Gringo," which was originally to have co-starred Lancaster. Burt was replaced in the cast by Gregory Peck, and Lancaster promptly sued for $1.5 million. He is mad. Columbia Pictures is claiming that it couldn't get insurance for Lancaster, who had undergone heart surgery a few years back. Jane is taking things calmly, however, telling the press: "I love him (Lancaster) very much." She says she has another movie project in store for him. He is apparently saying, see you in court.

RITZY ROBOT: Johnny Five, the robot star of "Short Circuit 2," may be the best dressed "actor" in Hollywood. The costume department designed several different fashion statements for the metal marvel, including a weird "Road Warrior" get-up; the graffiti look (a spray-paint special in which Johnny resembles a Big Apple subway car); and the snazzy gold, high-tech model proudly sported for his citizenship ceremony. By far the greatest challenge was creating his dapper raincoat attire. Due to Johnny Five's unique anatomy — his shoulders, at 35 inches, taper to a trim 12-inch waist — nine yards of special material were commissioned for this one robot ensemble alone.

Q: Isn't it true that Vanessa Redgrave resents her two daughters, both actresses, because they don't share her controversial political views? — A.R.

A: Don't believe it for a moment. Vanessa has two daughters, Natasha and Joely, from her former marriage to British stage director Tony Richardson. As it so happens, both daughters recently co-starred with their famous mom on the London stage. Natasha will soon be better known as the star of the controversial new flick, "The Patty Hearst Story." Vanessa tells me she adores her daughters and certainly doesn't feel they have to share her political views.

Q: After enjoying Orson Bean's amusingly offbeat new memoirs, "Too Much is Not Enough," a friend clued me in that Bean used to do hypnotism as part of his stage act. Was he a top-recognized hypnotist? — M.L.

A: Truth to tell, Orson wasn't a professional hypnotist at all. He told me that hypnotism served as a gimmick inserted into his patter. In his own words, he was a fake hypnotist. "I'd get people to come up on the state, and then whisper into their ear, 'Just do-whatever-I-tell-you.' Invariably, they became so terrified they'd obey my instructions." Bean confessed that, on several occasions, he found his was inadvertently hypnotizing volunteers — and had problems getting them out of their trance! "At that point, I became so nervous, I quickly dropped this entire segment from my performance and never attempted it again."

Q: Did Bette Davis abruptly quit her latest movie because she felt she wasn't treated like a star? — M.R.

A: Bette has a strong sense of herself, but work comes before ego. Davis says she bowed out of her latest flick, "Wicked Stepmother," because she was forced to undergo jaw surgery in New York. But after a period of recuperation — that included, apparently, a side trip to a posh villa in northern Italy — she appeared ready to return to the set. Then Davis said she'd need more time to recuperate, understandable since Bette is 80 years old. Nonetheless, the producer did a fast burn. I'll keep you posted.

'Loving' star lands job accidentally while visiting New York University

By JOHN N. GOUDAS

On the day she turned 17, Noelle Beck, who plays Trisha Alden Sowolsky in "Loving," received the greatest birthday gift an actress can imagine. That day, December 14, 1984, was the day Noelle began her work on "Loving," her very first professional job as an actress. Noelle was certainly lucky to land the job, but what is even more interesting, it all came about accidentally.

When Noelle was a 15-year-old high-school student in her native Baltimore, she visited New York University because she thought she might want to attend film school there after graduation. While in New York, she met a casting agent who was struck by her fresh-faced beauty and direct manner and suggested to her that she'd be perfect for soaps. She shrugged off the compliment, knowing that she had to finish school before deciding on any career moves. The agent was very persuasive and told Noelle to look him up when she was ready.

As most actors will attest, casting agents generally have a short memory. But not this one. Almost two years later, when Noelle returned to New York and looked him up he was as good as his word. He sent her to read for the role of Trisha in "Loving" and she got the part.

Noelle Beck got the part of Trisha on "Loving" by sheer luck.

Noelle smiled, as she recalled the story. She admitted that she had always promised herself that she would be famous (at least employed as an actress) by the time she was 16. As things turned out, she was off by just a few days.

Noelle attended the Baltimore School of the Arts where she trained in all aspects of performing. The school was relatively new when Noelle was a student; so far, she is probably its best-known alumnus. Noelle admits to being an overachiever and says she may have gotten that trait from her mother, Senie, who has always been her staunchest supporter. Her dad, Donny Beck, was somewhat of a celebrity in his own right, having played baseball with both the Minnesota Twins and Atlanta Braves before settling into the life of a businessman.

Although her parents were divorced when she was one year old, Noelle has a deep sense of family and has kept close ties with her parents, both of whom have remarried.

Fans of "Loving" still ask Noelle about the storyline involving Steve and Trisha, perhaps the most popular plotline of the series so far. Noelle misses those days, but she hints that her current storyline is ready to take off and thinks the fans will enjoy it.

"I love what I'm doing and I will continue doing it as long as I'm happy and the producers are happy. I never look at the ratings and I don't think of Emmy Awards. I work on making my character believable."

In addition to seeing her in "Loving," Noelle's fans will get a chance to see the beautiful actress in an extended cameo part in the new Chevy Chase movie "Fletch Saved." Noelle plays a Southern belle who uses her antebellum charm on Chevy in a dream sequence.

"I had fun making the movie and I hope to do more in the future, but in the meantime, I am very happy to be in 'Loving.'"

Soaps

Daniels in the award-winning series "Hill Street Blues," has returned to soaps. He is playing Dr. Arthur Donnelly in this year's Daytime Emmy winner "Santa Barbara." Soap fans will probably recall that Cypher also played Dr. Alex Keith in "As the World Turns" for a couple of years in the late '70s. But how many viewers know that Jon was the original Prince Charming opposite Julie Andrews in the 1957 Rodgers and Hammerstein production of "Cinderella"?

PLOT PORTENTS

Donna feels betrayed by Nick on "The Bold and the Beautiful." Eric feels betrayed by Stephanie. Thorne is in despair over Caroline. Beth needs more backing from Eric and doesn't get it.

Colton and Felicia are in trouble after the show on "General Hospital." Fran and Ann find bones in the cache along with the history of the Carter and Jerome mobs. Colette plans to bomb the arts festival. Duke and Victor consider making the mob legitimate. Colette admits to Felicia a connection with Frisco's death. Colette sets the bomb to go off at the Art Festival.

Gossip

hear much about her. — K.B.

A: I've seen Raquel at various functions in New York City, and I can tell you that at 46, she looks spectacular. Welch has been out of the Hollywood mainstream, however. She and French husband Andre Weinfeld set up a New York residence where they've been spending most of their time. Raquel got itchy a while back, though, and bought a place back in Hollywood — "I've been away too long." She's busy now taking her acting career in serious new directions, getting used to her new agent and preparing a video.

Q: Am I going bananas, or did I spy Bette Midler as a lowly extra in the Frank Sinatra movie, "The Detective"? I always assumed "The Rose" was her first movie. — B.McP.

A: Bette has understandably tried to foster that impression. Fact is, the star got her Hollywood feet wet in "The Detective." Plus, one year later she popped up in "Goodbye, Columbus," also sans personal fanfare. (Here, the stars happened to be Richard Benjamin and Ali MacGraw.)

SUMMER ROMANCE: Not much surprises the Hollywood community, but right now everyone is talking about the two actors (both male) who have fallen in love and moved in together. Both are big stars, although one of them has appeared in a series of clinkers — which hasn't done his career, which started out as a smash, much good.

Q: Jacqueline Onassis seems a bit snooty and remote in her public appearances, but is she really this way? — B.C.

A: Jackie can often be very outgoing. Recently she was seen at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, which is right near her Fifth Avenue co-op. On leaving the museum, Jackie became fascinated with a group of street kids who were performing the lastest versions of break-dancing. Strollers who recognized her were pleased when she engaged them in light banter that was totally friendly and spontaneous. Before leaving, she left a generous tip for the young dancers.

Q: Is the autobiography Janet Leigh is writing taking nasty swipes at former husband Tony Curtis? That's what we hear. — R.R.

A: Janet's book is a novel, not an autobiography. She tells me she's about halfway finished writing the tome, to be titled "The People Herder" or "Tinsel Sheep." As the latter indicates, the novel will be set at least partially in Hollywood. Which real-life figures will the characters resemble? "No one in particular," Janet laughed, "and everyone in general."

Q: We've been hearing the strangest rumors about Jack Lemmon. Is he alive or dead? — Y.C.

A: You're not the first to put that question to me. I've been getting lots of inquiries about Lemmon lately. For some strange reason, the Hollywood grapevine was working overtime with the story that Lemmon was physically in serious shape — in fact, moribund. A dumbfounded Jack scotched the report in definitive fashion — by crawling into his Hollywood agent's office and gasping, "I'm alive."

Fox prime-time schedule uncertain

Los Angeles Times

HOLLYWOOD — Last May, Fox Broadcasting announced that the network would add a new night of programming to its schedule next spring. This week, however, company president Jamie Kellner said those plans are on hold until Fox manages to solve its programming woes on Saturday night.

Kellner, speaking to national TV critics as part of the television industry's annual summer press tour here, said Tuesday that the plans to expand Fox's prime-time schedule beyond the weekend were contingent on improving the ratings of its Saturday schedule.

"The announcement has always been that Fox would first consolidate Saturdays before programming another night," Kellner said when questioned afterwards about the company's announcement last May that it would begin programming a movie block on Mondays in the spring.

"We lose money when we have a night of failing programming," he continued. "It wouldn't make any sense to launch another night when we haven't fixed that night."

Kellner was joined at the press conference by Fox Entertainment President Garth Ancier and Kevin Wendle, executive vice president of Fox Entertainment. Also present was Barry Diller, president of the parent Fox Inc. Both Kellner and Ancier were blunt in calling Fox's Saturday night lineup, which currently includes the game show "Family Double Dare" and "The Dirty Dozen," a failure.

Indeed, Fox's relationship with affiliated stations in Minneapolis, Portland, Ore., and Tampa, Fla., was recently terminated because they were preempting the low-rated Saturday lineup.

"We made a decision that we would not offer affiliation to stations who wanted to take our successful programs but not help grow our new ones," Kellner said Tuesday.

He cited the addition of three new stations to the Fox family as evidence that Fox is still an attractive commodity.

Fox plans to introduce a completely new line-up of Saturday shows in the fall, including "Beyond Tomorrow," a reality show about trends of the future that has already been a hit on Australian television for four years, and "The Reporters," in which the stories uncovered by a group of reporters are re-created in a "mini-movie style."

In addition, Kellner said, Fox has two back-up series in development: "Cops," which will track the work of five police officers from the Broward County, Fla., sheriff's department with mini-cams and other state-of-the-art video equipment, and "King of the Mountain," an outdoor game show.

Ancier called the new shows "strike programming," because none of them requires the services of members of the Writers Guild of America, now in the 21st week of a strike. He added, however, that Fox opted to develop reality shows rather than more comedies and dramas in order.

NFL films offers Redskins on video

By The Washington Post

The most exciting 5 minutes and 54 seconds of Washington Redskins history have been captured and edited into a video that any collector of sports cassettes should place at the top of the stack.

Those were the 354 seconds Washington had the ball in the record-breaking second quarter of the 1988 Super Bowl, when quarterback Doug Williams spearheaded an attack that produced 35 points with just 19 offensive plays.

NFL Films' "Ambush at Super Bowl XXII" (23 mins., $14.95, due at stores Aug. 1) highlights all the big plays, glorifies them with oozing praise and lets you enjoy this smashing Washington performance over the Denver Broncos without having to wade through the 3½ hours of tape you may have recorded on game day.

Gem-picking editing tosses away the rind and the pulp and brings you all the juice in a zippy little package that can be enjoyed before a game, or even at halftime.

For the first time, NFL Films has tacked on the annual Gillette-NFL 1987 MVP video, a bonus of 23 more minutes. In past years the MVP tape was a separate item.

It takes an in-depth look at last season's top six players (selected by a panel of former coaches and players), one from each division, and then presents the winner, who was chosen in a nationwide telephone poll of fans.

The NFL East's selection was Philadelphia's Reggie White (21 sacks in 12 games). The other five were quarterbacks Joe Montana, Dan Marino, Jim McMahon, John Elway and Bernie Kozar. And the winner is, well, a surprise.

The "Ambush" video of the Super Bowl game should not be confused with "Warpath," a 50-minute 1987 video yearbook ($19.95) from NFL Films that highlights Washington's entire 19-game season. At the end is about 3 minutes of Super Bowl action.

It went into production just four days after the Super Bowl, and sales for "Warpath" are about 75,000, almost exclusively in the Washington area.

Writer-editor Bob Smith had much more time to knit "Ambush" together, and it shows. The game's final touchdown, scored by running back Timmy Smith, is shown in rapid-fire from four different angles. All five TDs in the second quarter are shown several times and, when helpful, in slow motion.

Jeff Kaye does an excellent job on the narration, but the real audio gems are the live calls by Frank Herzog for WMAL radio in Washington, another touch of authenticity by producer and executive producer Steve and Ed Sabol.

Some of the prose gets a bit drippy, but it won't offend the ears of Redskin fans to hear the likes of: "In this game the character of Doug Williams exceeded his performance ... Billed as a battle of John Elway's skills and Doug Williams' heart ... It turned out to be a dream come true for one quarterback and a nightmare for the other ... By the end of the second quarter, everyone in Jack Murphy Stadium knew the words to 'Hail to the Redskins'."

Oh, that second quarter! For years to come, whenever the Redskins fall far behind, loyal fans will call

He's abusive. Sullen. Always stoned. And all you want is for things to be like they used to be. Before booze and drugs came into the picture.

Life seemed perfect. You had some great times together. Those long weekends at the lake. The late-night talks. The plans you made for your family. You had a good life.

But then came the pressures, the stress, the booze, the drugs. Now the man that could always make you laugh does nothing but make you cry.

He stays away for days. He blanks out. He lies about money. He's addicted. And nothing you've tried to do has changed that. But there is something that can. A simple phone call to the number below.

It's not an easy process. There's a lot of pain. But there's a lot of healing, too. The environment here is warm and open. Your husband will be with a supportive group of people with the same disease. And, of course, you and your family will be actively involved in the recovery process.

If you have a loved one who is destroying himself and your family with drugs or alcohol, don't wait any longer. Put aside all the excuses and fears and call us now. Our services include intervention, outpatient, inpatient, family treatment and aftercare. Our program is covered by many insurance plans. And we can even help you get your husband to agree to come in for treatment. There can be better times ahead. But you have to make the call.

Vanna White reveals she's happy with 'Wheel of Fortune' position

By MICHAEL HILL
The Baltimore Evening Sun

HOLLYWOOD — Presidential candidates searching for a message to bring to the American people this fall would have done well to stop by the opening day of the TV critics' press tour.

If there was ever a doubt that this country is a land of opportunity, it was dispelled by the biggest stars to shine on this day, which was given over to the makers of syndicated programs, those shows that are not on networks but are sold directly to local stations.

All sorts of people were here. There were animators who had begun a studio in Ireland; there were the creative producers of shows like "Star Trek: The Next Generation" and a mini-series on Olympics mogul Avery Brundage; there were people who think that what America needs is the return of "The Gong Show" and "Family Feud"; there were the people who are turning "USA Today" into a TV show.

But it was clear who the two biggest stars were: Vanna White and Morton Downey Jr., the beauty and the beast.

Here's a woman who happens to be quite pretty and whose job is to smile a lot, wear nice clothes and turn letters around on a game show. And here's a man whose job is to act like the type of person you try to avoid at parties. And they are both big, rich, successful celebrities. Only in America. What a country!

Looking at Vanna White, the living, breathing set decoration on the phenomenally successful game show "Wheel of Fortune," is like looking at one of those 'What's wrong with this picture?"

Vanna

into a new house because her old one had made the maps of the stars' houses and she would sometimes open her garage door in the morning to a bevy of flash bulbs. Not that her fans have been anything but nice to her, you understand, but, "I am a single woman and you do have to be careful."

She was candid about her age, 31, and her feelings about a new host to replace Pat Sajak, who will leave the daytime "Wheel of Fortune" (but not the nighttime version) to host a talk show for CBS starting in January.

"It should be someone who's real, not a phony person. The audience can always tell if a person is real or not on TV," she said. "Pat's a great person to work with. We're like a brother-sister team. We've worked six years together and I don't think we've have one argument.

"I don't have any say in choosing a new host, but I'm sure they'll choose someone I'll get along with just fine."

The tabloids said White was unhappy because she wasn't chosen to host the show. Not true, she said.

"I couldn't imagine being the host. I'm happy doing exactly what I'm doing."

Indeed, unlike Sajak, White has signed to stay with "Wheel of Fortune" until 1992.

"'Wheel of Fortune' will always be No. 1 for me," she said. "I hope whatever happens I can always stay in front of the camera and give people at home a good feeling. But 'Wheel of Fortune' made me what I am and I'll stay with it as long as I can."

It's not exactly clear what Vanna White is, but her realization that she should stick with "Wheel of Fortune" shows that she is not devoid of intelligence.
